Will Probe 2 County Barn Fires

Time Element Is Seen in Blazes

Fires of suspicious origin which completely destroyed two barns in the Kerhonkson-Napanoch section within 45 minutes of each other this morning are under investigation by law enforcement officials.

One was a small barn located on the Ukrainian Estate on Fordmore avenue, Kerhonkson, the other a large barn on Route 209, Napanoch, owned by D. W. Trowbridge of Kerhonkson.

THE BARN on the Ukrainian Estate was observed on fire about 5 a. m. by a guard on the Colony Farm of Napanoch Prison. He notified the Kerhonkson Fire Department that he could see a reflection in the sky in the direction of Fordmore road, Kerhonkson. The Kerhonkson and Wawarsing Fire Departments responded.

While still at the scene a second reflection was observed about 5:45 a. m. in the direction of Napanoch several miles away, Cpl. N. G. Lecakes of the Ellenville state police told The Freeman. This was the Trowbridge barn—approximately 100 feet by 60, stored with some 20 tons of corrugated waste paper owned by Harry Levine of Ellenville. The paper was valued at approximately $300, Cpl. Lecakes said.

THE NAPANOCH and Wawarsing Fire Departments were dispatched to the Trowbridge fire.

The barn on the Ukrainian Estate, described as approximately 30 by 40 feet, was empty, it was reported. The Trowbridge barn was empty except for the waste paper stored there.

Red Cross Seeks Clothing Help For Fire Victims

An appeal was made today by the Red Cross for clothing and blankets to be distributed to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Thomas and family of 30 Tompkins street. The Thomas' second-floor apartment was swept by fire shortly after 10 a. m., Friday, destroying their clothes and furniture.

Clothes will be received at the Red Cross office, 308 Clinton avenue, today between 2 and 5 p. m.

The Thomas family is presently staying with Mr. Thomas' brother at 13 West Strand until housing accommodations can be found.

Effective rescue efforts by Betty Jean Thomas, 7, in getting herself and five other children safely away from the fire was praised by Fire Chief James M. Brett.

Betty told firemen she was in the front room holding her three-months-old sister, Lorraine, while their mother was shopping. She carried the infant out of the house and made sure that the others got safely away from the flames.

Clothes sizes appreciated would be for a seven-year-old girl, three-months-old girl, boys one, three, four and six-years old, men's suits, size 36 and small-size ladies' dresses.

Firemen Plan Appeal Monday

Dystrophy Drive to Open With Porch Light Canvass

The uniformed firemen of Kingston will open the annual Muscular Dystrophy canvass of the city Monday evening in their annual porch light drive. Monday evening the homes in the first, second, third and fourth wards will be visited between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

Residents are asked to put on their porch light until the fireman canvasser arrives. Last year the firemen of the city made a complete canvass of the city with excellent results but this year Fire Chief Albert C. Brett, chairman, and Albert C. Hutton, Sr., co-chairman expect to exceed last year's record.

The Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., supports a comprehensive program of scientific research aimed at finding the cause of this dread disease and a cure for it. In addition clinics are held and donations will help substantially to enable MDAA Chapters throughout the country to give greater service to victims, wheel chairs, braces, lifts and other orthopedic devices and for transportation to and from clinics, hospitals and schools.

Tuesday evening the firemen will continue their "march on Muscular Dystrophy" with their porch light calls in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth wards. Wednesday they will canvass the ninth, 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th wards.

Play it Safe, Drivers Urged

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—The state's motor vehicle commissioner today urged New York's six million drivers to play it safe in the nationwide safe-driving campaign opening Monday.

Joseph P. Kelly called the campaign, scheduled for Nov. 21 through Dec. 10, a "test tube for safer habits in the future."

Its climax will be Dec. 1—designated nationally as safe driving day.

On S-D Day last year, there were 381 personal-injury accidents in New York state, which resulted in five deaths and 521 non-fatal injuries. A total of 732 accidents caused property damage only.

County Office Building

Heiselman's Views On Proposed Site

Involved in the location of the proposed new county office building are considerations much more important to this growing community than the convenience of any particular professional group, Former Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman explains in the following letter to the edieor of The Freeman:

"I have read with interest recent comments in your paper in relation to the location of the proposed new county office building on county owned land on the Boulevard.

"IT IS understandable that those who frequently use the facilities of the county clerk's office should favor retaining that office in a location within walking distance of their own offices. However, involved in the location of the new office building are considerations much more important to Kingston than the convenience of any particular professional group.

"To build the new milti-story county building on the site of the present county buildings on Fair and Main streets would be to create additional traffic problems in an area which is already in dire need of additional off-street parking accomodations. Under present day concepts of the functions of government, it is government's responsibility to provide off-street parking facilities for those who wish to transact business within the community. To ask government itself to aggravate this parking shortage by erecting a public building in an already congested business district would seem to this writer to be equivalent to requesting public officials to act against the best interests of those they were elected to serve.

"THE ENORMOUS increase in automobiles, and the reluctance of Americans generally to walk, has precipitated a struggle between old established business districts, called "Main Street," and the so-called modern shopping centers located on the outskirts and with parking space for hundreds of cars. Should we not think about these two competitive merchandising forces

4 Ulster Men Elected By Co-op Group

At the combined annual meeting of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and Farmers Production Credit Association held recently at the New Hurley Reformed Church hall several Ulster county farmers were elected as directors of these two Cooperative Farm Credit Associations.

C. Chester DuMond Jr. of Ulster Park, Theodore R. Wright of Gardiner and Alfred Zimmerman of Clintondale were elected as directors to the Ulster National Farm Loan Assn.

John L. Schoonmaker of Accord was reelected a director to the Farmers Production Credit Association. Charles Hufcut of Middletown was also elected as a director.

OVER 200 ULSTER county folks attended this meeting held in the spacious modern hall recently built by the New Hurley Reformed Church. The young women's group of the church served a turkey dinner to the association members, their wives and guests.

REPORTS GIVEN at the meeting by C. Kenneth Taber, secretary-treasurer and Fred H. DuBois Jr. of New Paltz, a director, showed that the Ulster National Farm Loan Association enjoyed a profitable year. A six per cent dividend was paid to stockholders during the year. Also there was a substantial increase in new business. Twenty-nine Federal Land Bank loans were made for $238,936 to Ulster county farmers making a total of 285 loans outstanding for $895,590. It is expected that loan volume will pass the million dollar mark in 1956.

ZAR BENEDICT, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers Production Credit Association reported that this Association will have the most profitable year in its history with an expected net profit of $20,000. He stated that loans made during the year will go over two and one quarter million dollars to farmers in Orange, Ulster, Sullivan and Rockland counties.

Just Peace Still Goal: President

Views Expressed In Dulles' Talk

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower says that, despite the east-west stalemate at the Geneva foreign ministers conference, the United States "will never admit defeat" in seeking a "just and durable peace."

The President's view was relayed by Secretary of State Dulles at the end of a sober, 30-minute TV-radio report last night on the Geneva meeting.

DULLES CONCEDED the western Big Three made no progress in the sessions with the Russians. But this assessment was balanced, in part at least, by the secretary's expressions of cautious optimism and by a statement from Eisenhower.

Reading from what he called "verbatim notes" made during a conversation with Eisenhower earlier in the day at Gettysburg, Pa., Dulles quoted the President as saying:

"I KNOW THAT no setback, no obstacle to progress will ever deter this government and our people from the great effort

One Car Is Total Wreck

Two Men Are Critical After Viaduct Mishap

Two Kingston men were reported in "critical" condition by their physician as the result of a two-car accident on the Washington avenue viaduct early today.

The injured, admitted to Kingston Hospital, are Robert L. Norris, 24, of 26 Van Gaasbeck street, and Frank Bouck of 486 Wilbur avenue. Mr. Norris suffered a possible skull fracture and Mr. Bouck a broken face bone and possible skull fracture, according to the police report.

POLICE SAID Mr. Norris was driving his 1948 sedan west on Washington avenue about 2:17 a. m., when he attempted to pass a 1954 sedan owned and operated by Rolf Ove Bergenn, 24, of Box 403-A, Route 2, Kingston, also traveling west at the beginning of the viaduct. The report said the Norris vehicle struck the left abutment of the viaduct and the rear end struck the Bergenn car. Bouck was a passenger in the Norris vehicle.

The Norris car was described by police as a total wreck and was towed from the scene. The Bergenn car sustained damage

Patrolmen Elect Glassman as New Local President

The election was held to dissolve a tie for the presidency which resulted after the November 10 voting when Officer Glassman and Officer Leonard Ellsworth received the same number of votes.

Other officers elected in the November 10 balloting were William Slover, vice-president; Francis Buchanan, secretary; Bernard Fowler, treasurer and Charles McCullogh, financial secretary.

Sabotage Is Called Unlikely

Varied Accounts Given on Tragedy

Seattle, Nov. 19 (AP)—Government investigators met here today to begin the work of piecing together the broken fragments of a wrecked airliner and the stories of the people who saw it die.

This much they knew:

TWENTY-SEVEN men died a fiery and horrible death when a big Peninsular Air Transport Co. plane bounced to explosive destruction early yesterday in the backyard of a suburban home. And 47 other persons, including a woman and three small children, survived.

It is upon the stories of the survivors and the few witnesses who watched the plane crack up out of a snowy sky that Civil Aeronautics Board investigators pin their hopes of solving the mystery—upon the stories and the plane's remains.

THERE WERE some discrepancies in the accounts of eyewitnesses and men who were in the plane—as passengers or pilots. And the only sizable remaining piece of the once large DC4 is its tail surface, still resting in a charred backyard amidst a rubble of melted and twisted metal.

The investigators said they had no preconceived notions what caused the Miami-based plane to falter two miles south of Boeing Field, its takeoff point, hit a tree, a utility pole, and a garage and then break up and burn in the backyard of the Colin Dearing home.

But sabotage, which caused the destruction of a United Airlines plane near Longmont, Colo., with a loss of 44 lives early this month, seemed unlikely to David Nelson, supervising agent for the Seattle office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

"I CERTAINLY don't think at this time that sabotage is indicated. The investigators don't draw conclusions, however, before putting everything together. Neither do we say we suspect sabotage — or anything else."

Richard D. Auerback, special agent in charge of the Seattle Federal Bureau of Investigation office, said his office had found nothing to indicate the likelihood of sabotage.

Two men who watched the plane's final few yards of flight, said its engines were failing and one had even quit. E. J. Rice who was close enough to feel the heat of the flames when the plane's heavily loaded gas tanks exploded with dreadful results said the engines were "poppin' and sputtering."

HERBERT GARDINER said one of the engines sounded flat and no exhaust was visible from another.

Fred Hall, co-pilot from Miami, agreed that one engine had given trouble "right after the takeoff." But, he said, "the other three engines were functioning perfectly. That's enough to get that type of plane up without too much trouble."

He couldn't say, though, why the plane began to settle in a matter of seconds after the takeoff instead of gaining the alti-

Stevenson Favored, Kefauver Charges

Chicago, Nov. 19 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver says the Democratic National Committee has favored Adlai E. Stevenson's candidacy for the party's presidential nomination in 1956. Committee Chairman Paul Butler denies the Tennessee senator's charges.

Kefauver, who says he will announce his 1956 political plans Dec. 16 or 17, made the accusation yesterday at a news conference after his arrival for the current three-day meeting of party leaders.

Kefauver's accusations, made while other prospective candidates were going around shaking hands, held chief attention temporarily.

But he will share the spotlight tonight with Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York at a $100-a-plate dinner at the International Amphitheatre.

Former President Harry S. Truman, who could have much to say about the selection of a nominee at the Democratic National Convention in the same hall next August, also will ad-

State Farm Group Defends Flexible Supports Program

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—The three largest dariy-farmer organizations in the northeast told the U. S. Senate Agriculture Committee today that the Eisenhower-Benson farm program was not working.

The groups, representing nearly 40,000 dairymen, demanded what they called a better program.

But the New York State Farm Bureau disagreed. The Farm Bureau now claims 73,000 members but expects to lose about 50,000 next year under a reorganization program. Its president said in testimony prepared for a committee hearing:

"The present program of flexible supports is working in the right direction and should be continued."

Dairy organization spokesmen, in their prepared remarks, maintained that low prices on farm products did not decrease production.

Secretary Benson has maintained that—over the long haul—reduced prices under the Republican flexible-price-supports program will discourage surplus

Harriman Denies Candidacy; Predicts Democratic Nominee Will Be President

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman says his hat is not in the presidential ring, but predicts the 1956 Democratic candidate "will be the next President of the United States."

The New York governor, before boarding a plane yesterday for Chicago, was asked by newsmen if, or when, he would announce his candidacy and Harriman replied: "I am not a candidate."

Harriman, however, gave no indication he intended to give pre-convention support to Adlai Stevenson, who announced his candidacy Tuesday. Stevenson, former governor of Illinois, was the Democratic standard-bearer in 1952.

Harriman described Stevenson as "a fine fellow" and, asked what he thought about Stevenson announcing his candidacy nine months before the Democratic national convention in Chicago next summer, replied:

"It is his responsibility to do what he thinks is right."

Some observers have noted that Harriman, expected to be a "favorite son" of the New York delegation, did not tell his supporters to cease working in his behalf.

Harriman shares the speaking platform at a Democratic rally in Chicago tonight with Stevenson and former President Truman.

The governor said the rally "will lay the foundations for the coming elections across the country," and added that the Democrats are "making a comeback" across the nation.

Earlier yesterday, Harriman termed as "nonsense" a newspaper report that he would announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination at a state Democratic dinner in New York city Feb. 2.

After tonight's rally Harriman embarks on a speaking tour of the far west. His schedule:

Monday night—Seattle, Washington state Democratic dinner. Tuesday—Eugene, Ore., luncheon with county Democratic leaders; Eugene, convocation of University of Oregon; press reception in Portland; Tuesday night—Oregon City, Democratic political meeting; Wednesday night—Lewiston, Idaho, Idaho state Democratic dinner.

Before leaving New York, Harriman was asked about the possibility of New York state taxes being reduced.

The governor said he favored tax cuts for persons who "need them most," but that no forecast was possible until the forthcoming state budget is prepared.

Patrolmen Elect Glassman as New Local President

Officer Julius Glassman, of 302 East Chester street, was elected president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association at a meeting held Friday evening at City Hall. He succeeds Officer Meyer Levy. Glassman was elected by a vote of 26 to 17.

The election was held to dissolve a tie for the presidency which resulted after the November 10 voting when Officer Glassman and Officer Leonard Ellsworth received the same number of votes.

Other officers elected in the November 10 balloting were William Slover, vice-president; Francis Buchanan, secretary; Bernard Fowler, treasurer and Charles McCullogh, financial secretary.

Sabotage Is Called Unlikely

Varied Accounts Given on Tragedy

Seattle, Nov. 19 (AP)—Government investigators met here today to begin the work of piecing together the broken fragments of a wrecked airliner and the stories of the people who saw it die.

This much they knew:

TWENTY-SEVEN men died a fiery and horrible death when a big Peninsular Air Transport Co. plane bounced to explosive destruction early yesterday in the backyard of a suburban home. And 47 other persons, including a woman and three small children, survived.

It is upon the stories of the survivors and the few witnesses who watched the plane crack up out of a snowy sky that Civil Aeronautics Board investigators pin their hopes of solving the mystery—upon the stories and the plane's remains.

THERE WERE some discrepancies in the accounts of eyewitnesses and men who were in the plane—as passengers or pilots. And the only sizable remaining piece of the once large DC4 is its tail surface, still resting in a charred backyard amidst a rubble of melted and twisted metal.

The investigators said they had no preconceived notions what caused the Miami-based plane to falter two miles south of Boeing Field, its takeoff point, hit a tree, a utility pole, and a garage and then break up and burn in the backyard of the Colin Dearing home.

But sabotage, which caused the destruction of a United Airlines plane near Longmont, Colo., with a loss of 44 lives early this month, seemed unlikely to David Nelson, supervising agent for the Seattle office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

"I CERTAINLY don't think at this time that sabotage is indicated. The investigators don't draw conclusions, however, before putting everything together. Neither do we say we suspect sabotage — or anything else."

Richard D. Auerback, special agent in charge of the Seattle Federal Bureau of Investigation office, said his office had found nothing to indicate the likelihood of sabotage.

Two men who watched the plane's final few yards of flight, said its engines were failing and one had even quit. E. J. Rice who was close enough to feel the heat of the flames when the plane's heavily loaded gas tanks exploded with dreadful results said the engines were "poppin' and sputtering."

HERBERT GARDINER said one of the engines sounded flat and no exhaust was visible from another.

Fred Hall, co-pilot from Miami, agreed that one engine had given trouble "right after the takeoff." But, he said, "the other three engines were functioning perfectly. That's enough to get that type of plane up without too much trouble."

He couldn't say, though, why the plane began to settle in a matter of seconds after the takeoff instead of gaining the alti-

State Farm Group Defends Flexible Supports Program

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—The three largest dariy-farmer organizations in the northeast told the U. S. Senate Agriculture Committee today that the Eisenhower-Benson farm program was not working.

The groups, representing nearly 40,000 dairymen, demanded what they called a better program.

But the New York State Farm Bureau disagreed. The Farm Bureau now claims 73,000 members but expects to lose about 50,000 next year under a reorganization program. Its president said in testimony prepared for a committee hearing:

"The present program of flexible supports is working in the right direction and should be continued."

Dairy organization spokesmen, in their prepared remarks, maintained that low prices on farm products did not decrease production.

Secretary Benson has maintained that—over the long haul—reduced prices under the Republican flexible-price-supports program will discourage surplus

Harriman Denies Candidacy; Predicts Democratic Nominee Will Be President

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman says his hat is not in the presidential ring, but predicts the 1956 Democratic candidate "will be the next President of the United States."

The New York governor, before boarding a plane yesterday for Chicago, was asked by newsmen if, or when, he would announce his candidacy and Harriman replied: "I am not a candidate."

Harriman, however, gave no indication he intended to give pre-convention support to Adlai Stevenson, who announced his candidacy Tuesday. Stevenson, former governor of Illinois, was the Democratic standard-bearer in 1952.

Harriman described Stevenson as "a fine fellow" and, asked what he thought about Stevenson announcing his candidacy nine months before the Democratic national convention in Chicago next summer, replied:

"It is his responsibility to do what he thinks is right."

Some observers have noted that Harriman, expected to be a "favorite son" of the New York delegation, did not tell his supporters to cease working in his behalf.

Harriman shares the speaking platform at a Democratic rally in Chicago tonight with Stevenson and former President Truman.

The governor said the rally "will lay the foundations for the coming elections across the country," and added that the Democrats are "making a comeback" across the nation.

Earlier yesterday, Harriman termed as "nonsense" a newspaper report that he would announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination at a state Democratic dinner in New York city Feb. 2.

After tonight's rally Harriman embarks on a speaking tour of the far west. His schedule:

Monday night—Seattle, Washington state Democratic dinner. Tuesday—Eugene, Ore., luncheon with county Democratic leaders; Eugene, convocation of University of Oregon; press reception in Portland; Tuesday night—Oregon City, Democratic political meeting; Wednesday night—Lewiston, Idaho, Idaho state Democratic dinner.

Before leaving New York, Harriman was asked about the possibility of New York state taxes being reduced.

The governor said he favored tax cuts for persons who "need them most," but that no forecast was possible until the forthcoming state budget is prepared.

Religious TV Program

"Catholics believe that man is good but sometimes prone to evil but that with the help of the grace of God, man can always be good." This is the statement made by the Rev. James J. McQuade, SJ, head of the Religious Department of John Carroll University, as he sums up the eighth program of the 13 weeks series, "We Believe," produced by the National Council of Catholic Men and telecast each Sunday over Station WKNY-TV at 1:30 p. m. In his discussion of what Catholics believe about actual grace, Father McQuade, at one point, compares the grace of God to an electric train that receives added power from the overhead electric line when it must climb a steep hill. He illustrates this sequence with a delightful series of cartoons to further clarify his point. Father McQuade makes ingenious use of props ranging from a battery powered radio to a potted rose to underscore and illustrate his points. In the remaining five weeks of WKNY-TV "We Believe Series" Father McQuade will explain what Catholics believe about: Religious Life, Sacraments, Family, Church and State and the Bible.

"Catholics believe that man is good but sometimes prone to evil but that with the help of the grace of God, man can always be good." This is the statement made by the Rev. James J. In his discussion of what Catholics believe about actual grace, Father McQuade, at one point, compares the grace of God to an electric train that receives added power from the overhead electric line when it must climb a steep hill. He illustrates this sequence with a delightful series of cartoons to further clarify his point. Father McQuade makes ingenious use of props ranging from a battery powered radio to a potted rose to underscore and illustrate his points. Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

The Collar Button Calamity

It was only a collar button but it created quite a rumpus in our family. It all happened this way.

For the last week of our vacation in the summer of 1953 we were camped in a trailer park near Hershey, Pa. — the chocolate town. On Sunday morning I was outside the tralier putting on my necktie by a little mirror hung on the door of the car. I always keep my tie trinkets in a little red typewriter ribbon box. I placed the box on the fender of the car, opened it to get my tie-clasp, and in the process of installing the clasp and adjusting my necktie I completely forgot about the box. We backed out and started down the highway for church. We had gone scarcely a hundred feet when we heard a strange tinkling noise—tin slipping on tin and trinkets scattering themselves on a cement highway. Immediately I remembered that I had left my little box on the fender.

Now nothing too valuable, in money terms, was in the box. But one thing I was sure was in it was a collar button my mother bought for me when I was a growing boy. (Back in those days, as the middle-aged well know, everybody wore separate collars for dress-up.) When a fellow's mother is gone even small things she gave him become valued possessions. Thus the eyes of the whole family were enlisted to search the highway for that collar button. We spent almost an hour scanning every inch of the road over the span of possible loss but finally had to give up without finding the trophy. And I had to reconcile myself to the fact that the collar button which I prized so highly for sentimental reasons was gone.

The story, however, has a bright sequel. For when we returned home I made the happy discovery that the collar button I thought I had lost was safely installed in the neckband of a shirt that hung in the closet. The calamity was undone. And you can imagine something of the inner gratitude I felt when I spied the sentimental trinket which I never expected to set my eyes upon again.

Suppose, right now, you lost everything you possess—health, home, friends, financial resources,, your job, eyes, two good legs, etc., etc. And then after a few hours of enduring the agony of thinking that it was all gone forever, suppose you got it all back. Nothing new; nothing added to what you had before. The inventory would be exactly the same as it is now. But the attitude would be so different. How thankful you would be for all of the mercies and the blessings which you are probably possessing so thoughtlessly and therefore so thanklessly this very moment!

May I suggest this as a fine discipline in preparation for a true Thanksgiving? Think how grateful you would be for the blessings you now have if they were suddenly withdrawn—and then later returned. That will give meaning to your gratitude as we approach our national Thanksgiving Day.

Defeat of Housing Proposal Cut to 1,416

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—An official Bronx vote count has reduced the referendum defeat of a proposed 50 million dollar middle income housing loan to the narrow margin of 1,416.

The Bronx count yesterday added 8,756 "yes" votes for the housing proposal, listed as Proposition One on the Nov. 8 ballot.

In a statewide unofficial count following the election, the proposition was apparently defeated by 22,427 "no" votes. The official count in Manhattan two days ago chopped 12,255 votes off the margin.

The total vote in Manhattan and the Bronx amounted to about 250,000. The official count is still to be completed in Queens and Brooklyn, where more than 400,000 ballots were cast.

Red China Puts Blame on West For Talk Failure

Tokyo, Nov. 19 (AP)—The official voice of Red China today blamed the West for collapse of the Big Four foreign ministers conference, but said it was not a complete failure.

Peiping radio, quoting the People's Daily said:

"Although the . . . conference did not reach agreement . . . it has helped to draw the attention of public opinion to the most presssing issues of the day and thus had a positive influence."

The editorial said "peoples of the world" should still strive for further relaxation of world tension.

"THE FOREIGN ministers of the three western powers went back on the directives of the government heads of the four powers," the editorial said. It was referring in part to the earlier summit meeting that set up the foreign ministers session. Then it added:

"Emergence of the Geneva spirit . . . cannot be killed by a handful of politicians . . . the crescendo of demands . . . for an end to the cold war, universal pressure for arms reduction and peaceful coexistence all mean the trend towards relaxation of international tension is a fixed one. No force on earth can block it."

Middle Road Policy Seen for T-H Law

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) appeared headed today down the middle of the road in its administration of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

He picked Boyd Leedom, 49, an NLRB member since last April, to be the new chairman. Leedom is a former justice of the South Dakota Supreme Court.

Ulster Breeders Appoint Preston New Technician

J. R. PRESTON

John R. Preston, formerly of Cortland, has been employed as artificial breeding technician by the Ulster County Artificial Breeders Cooperative, Inc., it was announced by President Aaron Bell of Accord. Preston started work November 4.

He brings the service in artificial breeding of NYABC sires of all five major dairy breeds—Holstein, Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire and Brown Swiss — and Angus beef service to members' herds in Unit 3 in Ulster County. He is replacing Paul Faurie of Milton who has transferred to Unit 2, which serves southeastern Ulster County. Unit 3, now served by Preston, includes the southwestern portion of Ulster County.

THE TECHNICIANS serving the three units of Ulster Artificial Breeding Cooperative have inseminated 5,277 cows or 44 per cent of the county cow population. The third NYABC technician in Ulster county is Charles Mayfield of Mt. Marion, who serves Unit 1.

Preston was born in McDonough in Chenango county and graduated from Oxford Academy and Central High School in 1946. In 1951, he graduated from the California State Polytechnic College. He was employed as a ranch hand during the summer 1947 at the H. J. McClean ranch, and was supervisor of dry cow care at the California State Polytechnic College from 1947 to 1951. He has also been employed by Carnation Milk Farms and has been in charge of consigned Holsteins from California to the "Top of the Crop Sale" at the Pabst Farms in Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, in 1951.

Preston has been a 4-H member and was secretary of the FFA Chapter in his high school. In college he was vice president of a dairy club and he showed cattle during summer vacations while in college.

IN SEPTEMBER, Preston completed the artificial breeding technician's training course sponsored jointly by the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell, and the Field Service Department of the New York Artificial Breeders' Cooperative, Inc. Following the course, he served a period of apprentice training at NYABC.

Preston is married to the former Winifred L. Thompson, and he and Mrs. Preston have a daughter, Jennie, five months.

NYABC has 190 technicians throughout New York State and Western Vermont to provide service for the more than 47,000 members who expect to breed 390,000 cows in the 1955-56 fiscal year to NYABC sires of the five dairy breeds and Angus.

Preston is temporarily making his headquarters with Paul Faurie at Milton and can be reached there by members wishing service, or information.

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

The Collar Button Calamity

It was only a collar button but it created quite a rumpus in our family. It all happened this way.

For the last week of our vacation in the summer of 1953 we were camped in a trailer park near Hershey, Pa. — the chocolate town. On Sunday morning I was outside the tralier putting on my necktie by a little mirror hung on the door of the car. I always keep my tie trinkets in a little red typewriter ribbon box. I placed the box on the fender of the car, opened it to get my tie-clasp, and in the process of installing the clasp and adjusting my necktie I completely forgot about the box. We backed out and started down the highway for church. We had gone scarcely a hundred feet when we heard a strange tinkling noise—tin slipping on tin and trinkets scattering themselves on a cement highway. Immediately I remembered that I had left my little box on the fender.

Now nothing too valuable, in money terms, was in the box. But one thing I was sure was in it was a collar button my mother bought for me when I was a growing boy. (Back in those days, as the middle-aged well know, everybody wore separate collars for dress-up.) When a fellow's mother is gone even small things she gave him become valued possessions. Thus the eyes of the whole family were enlisted to search the highway for that collar button. We spent almost an hour scanning every inch of the road over the span of possible loss but finally had to give up without finding the trophy. And I had to reconcile myself to the fact that the collar button which I prized so highly for sentimental reasons was gone.

The story, however, has a bright sequel. For when we returned home I made the happy discovery that the collar button I thought I had lost was safely installed in the neckband of a shirt that hung in the closet. The calamity was undone. And you can imagine something of the inner gratitude I felt when I spied the sentimental trinket which I never expected to set my eyes upon again.

Suppose, right now, you lost everything you possess—health, home, friends, financial resources,, your job, eyes, two good legs, etc., etc. And then after a few hours of enduring the agony of thinking that it was all gone forever, suppose you got it all back. Nothing new; nothing added to what you had before. The inventory would be exactly the same as it is now. But the attitude would be so different. How thankful you would be for all of the mercies and the blessings which you are probably possessing so thoughtlessly and therefore so thanklessly this very moment!

May I suggest this as a fine discipline in preparation for a true Thanksgiving? Think how grateful you would be for the blessings you now have if they were suddenly withdrawn—and then later returned. That will give meaning to your gratitude as we approach our national Thanksgiving Day.

Defeat of Housing Proposal Cut to 1,416

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—An official Bronx vote count has reduced the referendum defeat of a proposed 50 million dollar middle income housing loan to the narrow margin of 1,416.

The Bronx count yesterday added 8,756 "yes" votes for the housing proposal, listed as Proposition One on the Nov. 8 ballot.

In a statewide unofficial count following the election, the proposition was apparently defeated by 22,427 "no" votes. The official count in Manhattan two days ago chopped 12,255 votes off the margin.

The total vote in Manhattan and the Bronx amounted to about 250,000. The official count is still to be completed in Queens and Brooklyn, where more than 400,000 ballots were cast.

Red China Puts Blame on West For Talk Failure

Tokyo, Nov. 19 (AP)—The official voice of Red China today blamed the West for collapse of the Big Four foreign ministers conference, but said it was not a complete failure.

Peiping radio, quoting the People's Daily said:

"Although the . . . conference did not reach agreement . . . it has helped to draw the attention of public opinion to the most presssing issues of the day and thus had a positive influence."

The editorial said "peoples of the world" should still strive for further relaxation of world tension.

"THE FOREIGN ministers of the three western powers went back on the directives of the government heads of the four powers," the editorial said. It was referring in part to the earlier summit meeting that set up the foreign ministers session. Then it added:

"Emergence of the Geneva spirit . . . cannot be killed by a handful of politicians . . . the crescendo of demands . . . for an end to the cold war, universal pressure for arms reduction and peaceful coexistence all mean the trend towards relaxation of international tension is a fixed one. No force on earth can block it."

Middle Road Policy Seen for T-H Law

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) appeared headed today down the middle of the road in its administration of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

This emerged as the significance of a change President Eisenhower made yesterday in the board's leadership and in his selection of a fifth member of the panel.

He picked Boyd Leedom, 49, an NLRB member since last April, to be the new chairman. Leedom is a former justice of the South Dakota Supreme Court.

And Eisenhower reached into the ranks of NLRB examiners to pick Stephen S. Bean, 63, to fill a vacancy left when the term of Guy Farmer expired several months ago. Both Leedom and Bean are Republicans.

NOMINATION IS NO GIVE-AWAY

Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, now an avowed candidate for the presidency in 1956, is the man to beat in the Democratic party and everybody knows it.

Historically, it is highly significant that he should occupy this dominant position. Not too many defeated candidates for the office get that kind of acceptance from their party.

William Jennings Bryan was the great exception, winning the Democratic nomination three times though never the presidency. Thomas E. Dewey had to come from behind to grab a second nomination in 1948. Wendell Willkie, though enjoying high national prestige after his 1940 licking, was undercut by party regulars in 1944.

This does not mean Stevenson is now a walk-in for the 1956 nomination. It is interesting to observe how many party leaders have changed their tune since 1953 and 1954. Then they spoke as if Stevenson could have the nomination on a platter.

One learns not to take this preliminary comment too seriously, no matter how enthusiastic. Certainly it is a pretty good index of a man's general status in the party. But it is not "delegate talk."

As the time for lining up delegates draws near, the leaders' points of view change from an easy doling out of fulsome praise to practical political trading. Those who think they have something to gain by bargaining stop acting as if they were ready to give away their delegates for nothing.

Recent developments in the South offer illustration. Both Stevenson and his friend Stephen Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, labored hard in the southern vineyards to rebuild party strength after President Eisenhower's heavy 1952 inroads. They felt thereby they had greatly advanced Stevenson's own cause for 1956.

Very likely they have. But they got a surprise when Senator Richard Russell of Georgia not long ago mentioned Ohio's Democratic Governor Frank Lausche as a good prospect for 1956.

Though Lausche no doubt would have a considerable appeal to southern conservatives, he was not being seriously advanced as a nominee. It was Russell's way of reminding Stevenson and any other northern candidates that the South will not deliver its support for the asking. It will want to know what the party proposes to do—platform-wise and perhaps on the vice presidential nomination—to give the South recognition commensurate with its strength both in the convention and at the polls.

This is the standard political pattern of the months leading to the convention. The days of glib "I'm for Adlai" talk are gone.

Stevenson is in fact powerfully placed to get the nomination again. But he clearly will have to trade for it and fight for it. The prize is too big to be given away often by politicians who are trained to exact their "quid pro quo" in return for favors expended. If he doesn't already know them, Stevenson is now learning the hard facts of political life.

With the passing of each Veterans Day, more men realize that although they may easily fit into the spirit of the important holiday, they no longer fit into the old uniform!

NOTHING VENTURED

The TV program, "The $64,000 Question," has dramatized how drastic our income taxes really are. The winner of the $64,000 question pays $23,000 more in income taxes than does the $32,000 winner. For this reason most $32,000 winners have declined to try for the top prize.

The same discouragement in risk-taking ventures occurs in business. Tax rules dictate "no" answers everyday from businessmen, investors and professional men. And New York's First National City Bank says it doesn't stop there, for "the injury is not only to the opportunties of people but also to the tax collections since risk-taking enterprise affords the richest source of government revenues."

When are we going to respect the law of diminishing returns and encourage risk-taking ventures rather than discourage them?

FEAR IN THE COLLEGES

It would seem that what the universities and colleges ought to fear most is that we are short, in this country, of engineers, scientists of various kinds, mathematicians, etc. Constantly there are complaints of shortages and good students receive numerous offers upon graduation. The question might be asked boldly: Why, if the number of students in our colleges and universities is on the constant increase, are there so many shortages in the technical professions?

If the answer is that most students prefer the humanities, why is there such a shortage of school teachers, or do teachers no longer study the humanities but only school administration?

It has been suggested that men are deserting the sciences because Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer got into trouble with the Atomic Energy Commission and that professors and students cringe in fear for their opinions. But according to E. Merrill Root, in his book, "Collectivism on the Campus," the only professors who have cause for fear are those who still believe in old-fashioned American individualism. They are the forgotten men in this era of the idealization of collectivism.

Speaking of a proposed project of the Fund for the Republic, the "Beaumont Enterprise" said editorially:

". . . Evidence may be presented to make the American people believe college professors cower in their classrooms, look furtively about the campus when they leave for their homes to see if they are being followed by a sinister stranger."

Nobody so scared or so sinister will be found on any campus except such scholars as have devoted themselves to sedition or subversion and wonder why no one has ever caught them. The professor who down-grades a student because he does not accept professional notions as the eternal truth, fears no man. He is exercising a scholarly authority as old as the human race that he who instructs may admonish the instructed.

Actually, there is less fear on the campus today than there was in my youth when the heavy contributors spoke in loud voices to money-conscious trustees. These days, the heavy contributors are dead men's foundations run by live liberals or, in some instances, by men who are to the left of liberals.

The rich are no longer heavy contributors because except for the jet-set who have inherited wealth which they are spoiling to rid themselves of, preferring blondes to learning, the income tax has been so arranged that there are very few rich men left. The universities and colleges are now trying to stimulate giving by corporations up to the limit of deductibility and they are meeting with some success because a deduction is always welcomed by the taxpayer.

But no one expects that because he contributes to a university he can safely get into an argument with its president who, having put the contribution into the treasury, can shout "academic freedom." What may be involved is not "academic freedom" but common decency and a respect for the truth, but the learned man will say that he has devoted his whole life objectively to discover the truth and has not found it yet. He still does not know whether he prefers Jefferson or Lenin.

Even the presidents of universities fear the professors because they fear the cry of "academic freedom." I know a number of trustees of a certain university who in private speak as badly of the president of this school as I do but uphold him at every meeting. I have always suspected that they do not want him to speak as badly of them, in private or in public, as they do of him in private. They are the ones who are afraid, not the professors who can always turn on the tears of "academic freedom."

And so we might have a very interesting time when the Fund for the Republic reports on fear on the campuses. Or, perhaps they have dropped the project as they have dropped some others.

Could not the Fund, having $15,000,000 at its disposal, devote itself to a study of why we are short of engineers, biochemists and such? They might establish some scholarships, as many industrial firms are doing, so that the geniuses of high schools can go forward and save us from Russian scientific superiority, if they be truly superior as it is fashionable to say in these days of the Geneva Spirit.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CROOKED TEETH

By the term "crooked teeth" we do not mean that the teeth themselves are misshapen. It means, rather, that the arrangement or distribution of the teeth in the jaws is improper and the teeth have an irregular or uneven appearance.

Sometimes it would appear that there is some inherited tendency to crooked teeth as we find irregularities of the teeth and malocclusion (the teeth do not come together properly when the jaws are closed) occurring in different members of the same family. However, there are other causes of irregular teeth, one of the most important of which appears to be faulty eating habits. To trace this difficulty back to its source, we must remember that the first teeth begin to form as early as the second month of pregnancy. If the mother's diet lacks the calcium or phosphorus needed for the building of sound teeth, the enamel of the first teeth is apt to be poorly formed. Foods rich in calcium such as milk, cheese, oranges, celery and in phosphorus such as meat, milk, cheese, eggs should be essential parts of her diet.

Nutrition is also important during the formation of the permanent teeth. Many children do not obtain enough of the aforementioned tooth-building foods. It is not enough that these foods be taken occasionally, they must be eaten regularly because the young child's bones and teeth are developing every hour of the day. The addition of cod liver oil to the diet of the growing child has proven so beneficial to the formation of bones and teeth that it should be given daily during the winter months.

When the formation of tooth enamel is faulty, it is more likely to decay. Just as one bad apple in a barrel may cause a bad spot at the place where it touches its neighbor, so decay on the side of a tooth often begins at the spot where it touches the tooth already decayed. As soon as decay begins, the tooth becomes narrower and the neighboring teeth move together. When this occurs, there is not enough room for the permanent teeth and when it comes through the gums it is crowded out of line.

What can parents do to avoid this condition. Dr. G. Vernon Fisk of the University of Toronto School of Dentistry recommends periodic dental inspection of every child's teeth commencing at the age of two years so that cavities may be detected and repaired while they are still small and before the alignment of the permanent teeth is endangered.

"Were the importance of these first teeth recognized and every possible effort made to preserve each one of them until its permanent successor is ready to take its place, it is estimated that more than fifty per cent of the cases of crooked teeth would be prevented."

Washington (NEA)—One year in advance of the 1956 elections, there are 101 dark-horse entrants in the vice presidential sweepstakes. This large number was one of the big surprises revealed in the poll of Washington newspaper, magazine and radio correspondents just concluded for this column.

Fifty-six Republican names and 45 Democratic names were mentioned by newsmen accredited to the congressional press galleries.

The result is taken as indicative of many things.

It's a free country and anybody can run for the vice presidency who has the ambition, self-esteem or gall.

Also, politicians' friends sometimes place them in embarrassing predicaments by suggesting them for jobs they haven't a chance to get.

The great number of nominations may show that there is a vast wealth of political talent in democratic America. Or it may mean there are far too many potential Throttlebottoms standing around, waiting to be struck by political lightning.

ON SOME OF THE NOMINATIONS, it was necessary to stop and think for a moment, to identify individuals. But in the interest of narrowing down the field, it's in order to run down the list.

Ten Republican governors were mentioned as possibilities, as against nine Democratic governors.

The Republicans — Herter, Mass.; Knight, Calif.; Stratton, Ill.; Langlie, Wash.; Craig, Ind.; Joe Foss the Marine hero, S. Dak.; Hall, Kans.; McKeldin, Md.; Kohler, Wisc.; and Patterson, Ore.

The Democrats — Harriman, N. Y.; Lausche, O.; Williams, Mich.; Clement, Tenn.; Muskie, Me.; Meyner, N. J.; Leader, Pa.; Freeman, Minn.; and Happy Chandler, the new governor-elect of Kentucky.

The Democrats had only one ex-governor suggested—Adlai E. Stevenson of Ill., the overwhelming choice of newsmen for the Democratic nomination.

Four Republican ex-governors were offered: Dewey, N. Y.; Thorton, Colo.; Pyle, Ariz., and Adams, Vt., President Eisenhower's assistant.

FOURTEEN GOP ADMINISTRATION officials were named: In addition to Vice President Nixon and Chief Justice Earl Warren, both of California, four cabinet officers were put forward. They are Dulles of State, Humphrey of Treasury, Mitchell of Labor and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Two of Brownell's assistants were also suggested—William P. Rogers and Stanley Barnes of the antitrust division. Also in the little cabinet rank, Under-Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., got a mention. So did the Secretary for Peace, ex-Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and the head of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, ex-Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Mass.

For laughs, some wags suggested Press Secretary Jim Hagerty and the President's dramatic coach, Robert Montgomery. GOP Chairman Len Hall got a couple of votes.

The Republicans also came up with two women nominees—you guessed 'em—Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. No Democratic women showed.

TWENTY-NINE DEMOCRATIC SENATORS were named, as against only 18 Republican senators. Since the total of 47 is only one less than half the Senate and since all senators really consider themselves timber, the lists can be skipped.

The GOP ranks included three generals, MacArthur, Wedemeyer and Gruenther. As Democratic possibles, labor leaders John L. Lewis, George Meany and Walter Reuther were put forward.

The only businessman suggested was Republican Paul Hoffman. The only educator suggested was Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, who got 11 votes.

Many of the correspondents who take their political reporting seriously refused to guess on vice presidential possibilities 10 months ahead of the nominating conventions. As Robert Riggs of Louisville Courier Journal put it, "there ain't no such animal."

U. S.-Red Struggle Goes On

Administration Faces Great Test on Cold War Problems

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower and his Republicans can look out across the earth and, except for an occasional shot on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier, there is not a tank moving. There is peace, it seems.

BUT IT IS the kind of peace a fisherman sees when he looks across a lake on a frigid November. On the surface nothing stirs, but only because the cold has driven the fish down deeper to wage their endless struggle against one another.

If there is still no open war by next election day the Republicans will have a good talking point. But in the end the cold war, with the subtle struggle fought beneath the surface, may be just as deadly as a hot one.

The United States has plenty of trouble on its hands. How well it is overcome will be one of the major tests of the Eisenhower administration.

The Israeli-Egyptian struggle is only one part of the deadly struggle between the United States and Russia. The Egyptians are buying arms from the Communists, reportedly 80 million dollars' worth.

THE ISRAELIS have asked the United States for arms. They had hardly made the request Wednesday when the Egyptian ambassador in Washington warned this country that if the Jews get American arms the United States loses the friendship of the Arab world.

The Republican politicians are over a barrel on this, just as the Democrats would be in their place. This country can't afford to lose the friendship of the Arab world with its oil supplies and its strategic value in a war with Russia.

At the same time the politicians know the large American Jewish voting population doesn't want to see the Jews of Israel outgunned or overrun by the Arabs.

Up till now the United States seems to have felt that the Arabs would stiff-arm the Communists. The Middle East has been a barrier to Russian expansion southward.

BUT THE RUSSIANS now are making bid to move in, if only at first in a kind of oblique way. They'd have to inch in, anyway. They're promising not only arms but economic help, as in Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan, and Syria.

The United States, to offset Russian promises of aid, may have to step up its own economic assistance in the Middle Eastern area. But this happens at a time when the Eisenhower administration is trying to cut expenses.

It wants to balance the budget. Doing that was one of its 1952 campaign promises. Only yesterday Budget Director Rowland Hughes said it looks as if the budget can be balanced before the next election.

THE UNITED STATES and Russia couldn't agree on unifying Germany. Secretary of State Dulles may express optimism that Russia will consent. If he has any reason for thinking so, it hasn't been made public. It's nice to keep thinking the Russians will consent, but they've shown no signs of it.

What may happen is this, if the Russians can outmaneuver the United States: The West Germans, now allied with the United States, may get fed up with the endless American-Russian disagreements on unifying Germany and try to make a deal with Russia to do it, even if it means breaking away from this country.

THERE IS NO shooting in Asia at the moment. That may not last long. The Red Chinese have been strangely quiet. But now that the "spirit of Geneva" has floated away, they may start banging away at Formosa.

All in all, the Eisenhower administration has tough days ahead, with the Democrats always on hand to point to the failures.

NOMINATION IS NO GIVE-AWAY

Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, now an avowed candidate for the presidency in 1956, is the man to beat in the Democratic party and everybody knows it.

Historically, it is highly significant that he should occupy this dominant position. Not too many defeated candidates for the office get that kind of acceptance from their party.

William Jennings Bryan was the great exception, winning the Democratic nomination three times though never the presidency. Thomas E. Dewey had to come from behind to grab a second nomination in 1948. Wendell Willkie, though enjoying high national prestige after his 1940 licking, was undercut by party regulars in 1944.

This does not mean Stevenson is now a walk-in for the 1956 nomination. It is interesting to observe how many party leaders have changed their tune since 1953 and 1954. Then they spoke as if Stevenson could have the nomination on a platter.

One learns not to take this preliminary comment too seriously, no matter how enthusiastic. Certainly it is a pretty good index of a man's general status in the party. But it is not "delegate talk."

As the time for lining up delegates draws near, the leaders' points of view change from an easy doling out of fulsome praise to practical political trading. Those who think they have something to gain by bargaining stop acting as if they were ready to give away their delegates for nothing.

Recent developments in the South offer illustration. Both Stevenson and his friend Stephen Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, labored hard in the southern vineyards to rebuild party strength after President Eisenhower's heavy 1952 inroads. They felt thereby they had greatly advanced Stevenson's own cause for 1956.

Very likely they have. But they got a surprise when Senator Richard Russell of Georgia not long ago mentioned Ohio's Democratic Governor Frank Lausche as a good prospect for 1956.

Though Lausche no doubt would have a considerable appeal to southern conservatives, he was not being seriously advanced as a nominee. It was Russell's way of reminding Stevenson and any other northern candidates that the South will not deliver its support for the asking. It will want to know what the party proposes to do—platform-wise and perhaps on the vice presidential nomination—to give the South recognition commensurate with its strength both in the convention and at the polls.

This is the standard political pattern of the months leading to the convention. The days of glib "I'm for Adlai" talk are gone.

Stevenson is in fact powerfully placed to get the nomination again. But he clearly will have to trade for it and fight for it. The prize is too big to be given away often by politicians who are trained to exact their "quid pro quo" in return for favors expended. If he doesn't already know them, Stevenson is now learning the hard facts of political life.

With the passing of each Veterans Day, more men realize that although they may easily fit into the spirit of the important holiday, they no longer fit into the old uniform!

NOTHING VENTURED

The TV program, "The $64,000 Question," has dramatized how drastic our income taxes really are. The winner of the $64,000 question pays $23,000 more in income taxes than does the $32,000 winner. For this reason most $32,000 winners have declined to try for the top prize.

The same discouragement in risk-taking ventures occurs in business. Tax rules dictate "no" answers everyday from businessmen, investors and professional men. And New York's First National City Bank says it doesn't stop there, for "the injury is not only to the opportunties of people but also to the tax collections since risk-taking enterprise affords the richest source of government revenues."

When are we going to respect the law of diminishing returns and encourage risk-taking ventures rather than discourage them?

FEAR IN THE COLLEGES

It would seem that what the universities and colleges ought to fear most is that we are short, in this country, of engineers, scientists of various kinds, mathematicians, etc. Constantly there are complaints of shortages and good students receive numerous offers upon graduation. The question might be asked boldly: Why, if the number of students in our colleges and universities is on the constant increase, are there so many shortages in the technical professions?

If the answer is that most students prefer the humanities, why is there such a shortage of school teachers, or do teachers no longer study the humanities but only school administration?

It has been suggested that men are deserting the sciences because Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer got into trouble with the Atomic Energy Commission and that professors and students cringe in fear for their opinions. But according to E. Merrill Root, in his book, "Collectivism on the Campus," the only professors who have cause for fear are those who still believe in old-fashioned American individualism. They are the forgotten men in this era of the idealization of collectivism.

Speaking of a proposed project of the Fund for the Republic, the "Beaumont Enterprise" said editorially:

". . . Evidence may be presented to make the American people believe college professors cower in their classrooms, look furtively about the campus when they leave for their homes to see if they are being followed by a sinister stranger."

Nobody so scared or so sinister will be found on any campus except such scholars as have devoted themselves to sedition or subversion and wonder why no one has ever caught them. The professor who down-grades a student because he does not accept professional notions as the eternal truth, fears no man. He is exercising a scholarly authority as old as the human race that he who instructs may admonish the instructed.

Actually, there is less fear on the campus today than there was in my youth when the heavy contributors spoke in loud voices to money-conscious trustees. These days, the heavy contributors are dead men's foundations run by live liberals or, in some instances, by men who are to the left of liberals.

The rich are no longer heavy contributors because except for the jet-set who have inherited wealth which they are spoiling to rid themselves of, preferring blondes to learning, the income tax has been so arranged that there are very few rich men left. The universities and colleges are now trying to stimulate giving by corporations up to the limit of deductibility and they are meeting with some success because a deduction is always welcomed by the taxpayer.

But no one expects that because he contributes to a university he can safely get into an argument with its president who, having put the contribution into the treasury, can shout "academic freedom." What may be involved is not "academic freedom" but common decency and a respect for the truth, but the learned man will say that he has devoted his whole life objectively to discover the truth and has not found it yet. He still does not know whether he prefers Jefferson or Lenin.

Even the presidents of universities fear the professors because they fear the cry of "academic freedom." I know a number of trustees of a certain university who in private speak as badly of the president of this school as I do but uphold him at every meeting. I have always suspected that they do not want him to speak as badly of them, in private or in public, as they do of him in private. They are the ones who are afraid, not the professors who can always turn on the tears of "academic freedom."

And so we might have a very interesting time when the Fund for the Republic reports on fear on the campuses. Or, perhaps they have dropped the project as they have dropped some others.

Could not the Fund, having $15,000,000 at its disposal, devote itself to a study of why we are short of engineers, biochemists and such? They might establish some scholarships, as many industrial firms are doing, so that the geniuses of high schools can go forward and save us from Russian scientific superiority, if they be truly superior as it is fashionable to say in these days of the Geneva Spirit.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CROOKED TEETH

By the term "crooked teeth" we do not mean that the teeth themselves are misshapen. It means, rather, that the arrangement or distribution of the teeth in the jaws is improper and the teeth have an irregular or uneven appearance.

Sometimes it would appear that there is some inherited tendency to crooked teeth as we find irregularities of the teeth and malocclusion (the teeth do not come together properly when the jaws are closed) occurring in different members of the same family. However, there are other causes of irregular teeth, one of the most important of which appears to be faulty eating habits. To trace this difficulty back to its source, we must remember that the first teeth begin to form as early as the second month of pregnancy. If the mother's diet lacks the calcium or phosphorus needed for the building of sound teeth, the enamel of the first teeth is apt to be poorly formed. Foods rich in calcium such as milk, cheese, oranges, celery and in phosphorus such as meat, milk, cheese, eggs should be essential parts of her diet.

Nutrition is also important during the formation of the permanent teeth. Many children do not obtain enough of the aforementioned tooth-building foods. It is not enough that these foods be taken occasionally, they must be eaten regularly because the young child's bones and teeth are developing every hour of the day. The addition of cod liver oil to the diet of the growing child has proven so beneficial to the formation of bones and teeth that it should be given daily during the winter months.

When the formation of tooth enamel is faulty, it is more likely to decay. Just as one bad apple in a barrel may cause a bad spot at the place where it touches its neighbor, so decay on the side of a tooth often begins at the spot where it touches the tooth already decayed. As soon as decay begins, the tooth becomes narrower and the neighboring teeth move together. When this occurs, there is not enough room for the permanent teeth and when it comes through the gums it is crowded out of line.

What can parents do to avoid this condition. Dr. G. Vernon Fisk of the University of Toronto School of Dentistry recommends periodic dental inspection of every child's teeth commencing at the age of two years so that cavities may be detected and repaired while they are still small and before the alignment of the permanent teeth is endangered.

"Were the importance of these first teeth recognized and every possible effort made to preserve each one of them until its permanent successor is ready to take its place, it is estimated that more than fifty per cent of the cases of crooked teeth would be prevented."

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower and his Republicans can look out across the earth and, except for an occasional shot on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier, there is not a tank moving. There is peace, it seems.

BUT IT IS the kind of peace a fisherman sees when he looks across a lake on a frigid November. On the surface nothing stirs, but only because the cold has driven the fish down deeper to wage their endless struggle against one another.

If there is still no open war by next election day the Republicans will have a good talking point. But in the end the cold war, with the subtle struggle fought beneath the surface, may be just as deadly as a hot one.

The United States has plenty of trouble on its hands. How well it is overcome will be one of the major tests of the Eisenhower administration.

The Israeli-Egyptian struggle is only one part of the deadly struggle between the United States and Russia. The Egyptians are buying arms from the Communists, reportedly 80 million dollars' worth.

THE ISRAELIS have asked the United States for arms. They had hardly made the request Wednesday when the Egyptian ambassador in Washington warned this country that if the Jews get American arms the United States loses the friendship of the Arab world.

The Republican politicians are over a barrel on this, just as the Democrats would be in their place. This country can't afford to lose the friendship of the Arab world with its oil supplies and its strategic value in a war with Russia.

At the same time the politicians know the large American Jewish voting population doesn't want to see the Jews of Israel outgunned or overrun by the Arabs.

Up till now the United States seems to have felt that the Arabs would stiff-arm the Communists. The Middle East has been a barrier to Russian expansion southward.

BUT THE RUSSIANS now are making bid to move in, if only at first in a kind of oblique way. They'd have to inch in, anyway. They're promising not only arms but economic help, as in Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan, and Syria.

The United States, to offset Russian promises of aid, may have to step up its own economic assistance in the Middle Eastern area. But this happens at a time when the Eisenhower administration is trying to cut expenses.

It wants to balance the budget. Doing that was one of its 1952 campaign promises. Only yesterday Budget Director Rowland Hughes said it looks as if the budget can be balanced before the next election.

THE UNITED STATES and Russia couldn't agree on unifying Germany. Secretary of State Dulles may express optimism that Russia will consent. If he has any reason for thinking so, it hasn't been made public. It's nice to keep thinking the Russians will consent, but they've shown no signs of it.

What may happen is this, if the Russians can outmaneuver the United States: The West Germans, now allied with the United States, may get fed up with the endless American-Russian disagreements on unifying Germany and try to make a deal with Russia to do it, even if it means breaking away from this country.

THERE IS NO shooting in Asia at the moment. That may not last long. The Red Chinese have been strangely quiet. But now that the "spirit of Geneva" has floated away, they may start banging away at Formosa.

All in all, the Eisenhower administration has tough days ahead, with the Democrats always on hand to point to the failures.

World News in Brief

RABAT, French Morocco, Nov. 19 (AP)—While Sultan Sidi Mohammad Ben Youssef held consultations today in his palace aimed at restoring peace to Morocco, an angry mob trampled to death a Caliph and two other persons in the palace courtyard.

The slain Caliph, an assistant to the Pasha (governor) of Fez, was Taieb El Baghdad. He was known as a former sympathizer of Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, the man who replaced Youssef during his two years of exile, which ended this week. Arafa is now living in retirement in Tangier.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 19 (AP)—An arctic rescue team may require two more days to climb the final three miles up steep, wind-lashed Charleston peak to the wreckage of an air force transport carrying 14 men, all presumed dead.

Five paramedics (paratroop medical technicians) camped during the night on the precipitous ice-clad mountain in temperatures under 20 below zero. Using snowshoes and skis on occasion, they clambered four miles the first long day after leaving a four-wheel drive arctic truck.

The rescue group, from the 42nd Air Rescue Squadron at March Air Force Base, Calif., radioed they might reach the crash scene late today, but probably not until tomorrow.

2 Women Claim Injuries After 3-Car Accident

A Ballston Spa woman and a Kingston woman claimed injuries in a three-car accident at 714 Broadway at 9:35 a. m. today, according to police.

Claiming head injuries was Julia Pagano of Ballston Spa while Mary Bitonte, of 120 Cedar street, claimed injuries to the right leg, neck and left shoulder, the report said.

POLICE SAID a 1955 sedan owned by Julia and Frank Pagano, operated by Frank Pagano, same address, was traveling north on Broadway. A 1951 sedan owned and operated by Anthony Casciaro, 50 Derrenbacher street, was also traveling north. Mrs. Bitonte was a passender in the Casciaro vehicle. The Pagano and Casciaro cars were part of a funeral procession, police said, and had stopped when an unknown vehicle cut into the procession. A 1949 sedan owned and operated by Alfred E. Goeller, 306 Clinton avenue, hit the Casciaro vehicle in the rear and the Casciaro car hit the Pagano vehicle in the rear, the report said.

The Pagano car sustained damage to the complete rear, the Casciaro car sustained damage to the complete rear, front bumper and directional signal, and the Goeller vehicle damage to the front bumper and grill, the report indicated.

The injured were to be treated by a private physician, the report added.

County Welfare Delegates Attend Buffalo Sessions

Miss Elma Kullmann, Mrs. William Strong and Mrs. Jack Crawford, Jr., of the Ulster County Welfare Department returned yesterday from Buffalo where they attended the New York State Welfare Conference at the Hotel Statler.

They left Buffalo about noon Thursday to return to Kingston but were trapped in a heavy snow storm with winds of gale force and were forced to spend the night in Batavia. It took all afternoon for them to travel the 33 miles between Buffalo and Batavia, they reported.

AMONG THOSE speaking at the conference were Gov. Averell Harriman, Raymond Houston, commissioner of the New York State Department of Social Welfare, and Lt. Gen. C. R. Huebner, director of New York State Civil Defense Commission.

The local delegates attended sessions on family and child care.

Argentina Takes Steps to Revive Freedom of Press

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Nov. 19 (AP)—The week-old provisional government of Maj. Gen. Pedro Aramburu apparently is making sweeping moves to revive freedom of the press in Argentina after the tight controls of Peronism.

These are the steps already taken:

BY DECREE, Aramburu yesterday wiped out the presidential press office, the big 1,400-man organization which under former President Juan Peron fed a steady stream of propaganda to newspapers, magazines, radio, television, and movies.

This was followed by a declaration from Subsecretary of the Interior Carlos Manuel Muniz that the government is seeking a "prompt solution" of the La Prensa case. That big, independent newspaper—a strong critic of Peronism—was expropriated in 1951 and turned over to the pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor (CGT).

THEN THE GOVERNMENT announced it was lifting immediately its temporary administration (intervention) from the Socialist newspaper La Vanguardia and that the newspaper El Norte in Salta province had resumed publication.

El Norte was closed Wednesday by the authorities and its editor Luis Giacosa, was arrested for supporting an outlawed three-day general strike called by the CGT.

Area Woman Hurt In 2-Car Mishap

A Grahamsville woman suffered lacerations of the head and knee in a two-car collision at 6:30 p. m. yesterday on Route 55 about five miles west of Napanoch, according to Ellenville State Police.

She was Mrs. Helen Furman, 52, who was riding as a passenger in a 1941 sedan operated by her husband, Maurice Furman, 54.

The Furman vehicle, traveling east, was in collision with a 1948 sedan operated by John Gratton Reynolds, 62, of Lackawack, traveling west, Cpl. N. G. Lecakes reported.

HE SAID the Reynolds car swerved into the eastbound lane, striking the Furman car in the left front side and continuing without stopping.

Mr. Reynolds was arrested on two charges—leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson and released in $50 bail in custody of his wife. A hearing before Judge Poppel will be held on Nov. 29.

Soviet Leaders On Second Day Of Indian Tour

New Delhi, India, Nov. 19 (AP)—Russia's Premier Nikoli Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev turned tourist today for a look at New Delhi's famous historic spots.

A sightseeing tour on the second day of their 18-day state visit to India also gave the Soviet leaders an opportunity to pay homage to Mahatma Gandi, whom the Soviet Union once termed "reactionary."

THE ITINERARY for the tour was not announced beforehand, and security measures covered the Russians' swing around the city. But the presence of hundreds of police tipped the public where the Soviet visitors were heading, and crowds gathered all along the route.

Despite the police lines the crowds threatened at least once to overwhelm the open car in which Bulganin and Khrushev were riding.

The tour started at the site of Gandhi's cremation.

The two Soviet leaders sat on a stone bench to remove their shoes and advanced to the Gandhi memorial where each placed a huge floral wreath.

JUST OVER A YEAR ago the Indian government protested informally to Moscow on learning that the official Soviet encyclopedia said Gandhi "pretended in a demogogic way" to lead the Indian independence movement.

Some observers thought today's tribute represented Russian atonement for the Gandhi reference.

From the cremation site the Russians went to see New Delhi's famed red sandstone fort built by the Monghuls 300 years ago and the site of the last resistance by Indian Sepoys in the 1857 mutiny against the British.

They walked over a 100-yard long red carpet to see the largest mosque in India, Jama Masjid, and viewed the 700-year-old victory tower which has been rebuilt by various imperial rulers over the centuries.

production and eventually raise farm prices.

Stanley H. Benham, a Republican and newly elected president of the 23,000-member Dairyman's League, urged adoption of a "soil bank" plan partly to replace the present national program. Under such a plan, the government would rent land from the farmer and take it out of production.

This proposal has been advocated frequently to the touring Senate committee, which has held hearings in all major farm areas of the country. Twenty-five witnesses were scheduled for here.

The dairy organizations and the Farm Bureau are considered generally Republican in makeup. In the past, the dairy groups have given at least passive support to the principle of the Eisenhower-Benson program. The Farm Bureau has supported it staunchly.

The lead-off witness was Frank B. Lent, attorney for the Metropolitan Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, which claims 6,000 members. Lent told the committee headed by Sen. Ellender (D.-La.):

"Reducing prices will not reduce production. Fixed costs because of large capital investments must be met...therefore, if prices go down (the farmer) must put on more cows to make more milk to get the same required number of dollars."

Stevenson, the only declared candidate for the nomination, is scheduled to speak at 11:15 p. m. EST. His address will be carried by NBS and ABC radio and television networks.

More than 2,500 reservations, a spokesman said, have been made for the dinner winding up a three-day party rally.

Kefauver's remarks at the news conference overshadowed most other political talk yesterday. He stated that telegrams of greetings to local Democratic meetings, signed off with Stevenson's name, had been sent from national committee headquarters in Washington.

"It's not proper for the national committee to espouse the candidacy of any one person," Kefauver said. "In times past there is evidence that they have been trying to help Mr. Stevenson."

Saying he had been told of "four or five" such instances, Kefauver added, "I am not complaining now, but I just don't think it's proper."

Butler quickly denied the committee had dispatched any such messages. The committee said, he added, had been instructed not to take sides.

Stephen A. Mitchell, former national chairman, also denied the charges, stating he was not "aware that any such thing happened."

THERE WAS NO comment from Stevenson or Harriman, who told reporters he had no announcements of candidacy in mind. Before leaving New York yesterday Harriman said "whoever the next Democratic candidate will be, he will be the next president of the United States."

Harriman insisted to newsmen that he himself is not a candidate, although he is expected to be the "favorite son" of the big New York delegation to the convention.

barn was estimated at $1,500 and the Ukrainian barn at $1,000. The Ukrainian barn is located on Foordmore avenue, a road connecting Routes 209 and 44-55, used as a route bypassing the village of Kerhonkson.

Cpl. Lecakes said there was "definitely a time situation" involved in the two fires and that they were under investigation.

Arthur Chipp of the Kerhonkson Volunteer Fire Department said no other buildings were located close to the barn on the Ukrainian Estate. There is a new housing development about a quarter of a mile away in the direction of the Minnewaska Trail.

Chief Harry Decker of the Kerhonkson Fire Department was in charge at the scene of the blaze which destroyed the Ukrainian barn.

Texas Housewife Wins Car for Life

In a dramatic, overtime finish, Mrs. John Anderson, a Ft. Worth housewife, outscored two male opponents to win the first of four nationally-televised "Dodge for Life" contests Nov. 12. Wife of a carpenter, Mrs. Anderson, 37, correctly answered the 12th of a series of safety questions, and for her victory will receive a new car every year of her life. So excited when informed by Bert Parks (right), noted quizmaster, that she had won, she had to leave the victory dinner after the contest and return to her hotel to rest.

Heiselman's

when we do our community planning?

"What would happen to business volume, employment opportunities, real estate assessments and tax revenues in our uptown business district if a competitive shopping center, with a large department store and many other retail outlets, were built on the outskirts, with parking space for hundreds of automobiles?

"If we are to maintain our corporate balance, would it not be wise to locate the new county building on the outskirts, thereby taking many cars off streets and parking areas which are urgently needed by those who have business to transact with merchants, lawyers, financial institutions and others located in the uptown section?

"IT IS GENERALLY agreed that uptown needs more off-street parking space. Should not some thought be given to razing all of the county buildings in the Main and Fair street area, and after combining this land with the Main street parking lot, erect thereon a multi-story parking facility to accommodate a thousand cars? Steel structures to serve this purpose have been built in some cities. Push button control stows the cars away and bring them quickly down. If found feasible a parking authority could be created to build and operate it and amortize the bonds from parking revenues.

"In selecting the location of the new county office building, we should look well into the future and not plan for today only.

"If the population of this area continues to increase, and real estate values continue to rise, the day might well come when it will be advisable and advantageous to consolidate all functions of county government at the new office building location. Such a move would make the valuable court house site available for commercial use. Proper utilization of space in business districts, where land is scarce and values are high, is an important factor contributing to the proper growth and development of a city. Only by proper space utilization can we be assured that sufficient tax revenues will flow into municipal treasuries to defray the costs of an expanding and growing community.

"It is wholesome, and, I hope, beneficial, to have a public discussion of a matter that is so vital to all concerned. This letter is written in the belief that participation of the people in arriving at important community decisions should be encouraged."

Ulster county will be one of approximately 1,000 communities in the United States which will use the St. Louis Dreypak, a testing strip, to check for signs of diabetes during Diabetes Week, November 13 to 19, it was announced by Dr. Curtis P. Bight, who is heading the local Diabetes Detection Drive.

THE ST. LOUIS Dreypak, a simple method of collecting dried specimens of urine for processing with Benedict's Solution, was first made available last year throughout the country for mass screenings of the public.

Dr. Bight stated that about 10,000 of the St. Louis Dreypaks will be distributed free at drug stores and industrial concerns in Ulster county during Diabetes Week.

The St. Louis Dreypaks contain complete instructions. They are to be returned by mail.

The St. Louis Dreypak is composed of a small piece of white filter paper impregnated with sodium fluoride and stapled to a plastic-coated paper.

THE FILTER PAPER is dipped into urine and allowed to dry overnight. After the printed form on the strip has been filled out by the person tested, it is placed in an envelope supplied for that purpose and returned to a designated collection center for testing.

At the laboratory, the testing strip is immersed for two minutes in boiling Benedict's solution and the results of the test may be determined immediately. After completing the test, the collection station can then notify the testee of the result by merely detaching a flap on the double-purpose envelope and remailing it with the report.

FROM 25 TO 35 St. Louis Dreypaks can be processed at one time with the aid of one technician and one or two skilled workers. Five hundred Dreypaks can be processed in an hour.

A considerable number of residents of the county of Ulster have already availed themselves of the testing facilities and returned the Dreypak. It is expected that before the end of this week, most of the 10,000 distributed Dreypaks will have been used.

Today is the last day of this year's diabetes detection drive. The Ulster County Medical Society urges everyone in Ulster county to take advantage of the opportunity of a free diabetes test today. Every drug store in the county has a supply of test kits.

World News in Brief

RABAT, French Morocco, Nov. 19 (AP)—While Sultan Sidi Mohammad Ben Youssef held consultations today in his palace aimed at restoring peace to Morocco, an angry mob trampled to death a Caliph and two other persons in the palace courtyard.

The slain Caliph, an assistant to the Pasha (governor) of Fez, was Taieb El Baghdad. He was known as a former sympathizer of Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, the man who replaced Youssef during his two years of exile, which ended this week. Arafa is now living in retirement in Tangier.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 19 (AP)—An arctic rescue team may require two more days to climb the final three miles up steep, wind-lashed Charleston peak to the wreckage of an air force transport carrying 14 men, all presumed dead.

Five paramedics (paratroop medical technicians) camped during the night on the precipitous ice-clad mountain in temperatures under 20 below zero. Using snowshoes and skis on occasion, they clambered four miles the first long day after leaving a four-wheel drive arctic truck.

The rescue group, from the 42nd Air Rescue Squadron at March Air Force Base, Calif., radioed they might reach the crash scene late today, but probably not until tomorrow.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP)—A brave mother, awakening to find her home in flames, shepherded four of her six children to safety early today but lost her own life together with her youngest son when she returned for him.

The sixth child jumped safely from a second-story window.

Firemen reported that Mrs. Virginia Labor Cormier, 34, five sons and a daughter were trapped on the second floor by fire which apparently started downstairs.

2 Women Claim Injuries After 3-Car Accident

A Ballston Spa woman and a Kingston woman claimed injuries in a three-car accident at 714 Broadway at 9:35 a. m. today, according to police.

Claiming head injuries was Julia Pagano of Ballston Spa while Mary Bitonte, of 120 Cedar street, claimed injuries to the right leg, neck and left shoulder, the report said.

POLICE SAID a 1955 sedan owned by Julia and Frank Pagano, operated by Frank Pagano, same address, was traveling north on Broadway. A 1951 sedan owned and operated by Anthony Casciaro, 50 Derrenbacher street, was also traveling north. Mrs. Bitonte was a passender in the Casciaro vehicle. The Pagano and Casciaro cars were part of a funeral procession, police said, and had stopped when an unknown vehicle cut into the procession. A 1949 sedan owned and operated by Alfred E. Goeller, 306 Clinton avenue, hit the Casciaro vehicle in the rear and the Casciaro car hit the Pagano vehicle in the rear, the report said.

The Pagano car sustained damage to the complete rear, the Casciaro car sustained damage to the complete rear, front bumper and directional signal, and the Goeller vehicle damage to the front bumper and grill, the report indicated.

The injured were to be treated by a private physician, the report added.

County Welfare Delegates Attend Buffalo Sessions

Miss Elma Kullmann, Mrs. William Strong and Mrs. Jack Crawford, Jr., of the Ulster County Welfare Department returned yesterday from Buffalo where they attended the New York State Welfare Conference at the Hotel Statler.

They left Buffalo about noon Thursday to return to Kingston but were trapped in a heavy snow storm with winds of gale force and were forced to spend the night in Batavia. It took all afternoon for them to travel the 33 miles between Buffalo and Batavia, they reported.

AMONG THOSE speaking at the conference were Gov. Averell Harriman, Raymond Houston, commissioner of the New York State Department of Social Welfare, and Lt. Gen. C. R. Huebner, director of New York State Civil Defense Commission.

The local delegates attended sessions on family and child care.

Argentina Takes Steps to Revive Freedom of Press

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Nov. 19 (AP)—The week-old provisional government of Maj. Gen. Pedro Aramburu apparently is making sweeping moves to revive freedom of the press in Argentina after the tight controls of Peronism.

These are the steps already taken:

BY DECREE, Aramburu yesterday wiped out the presidential press office, the big 1,400-man organization which under former President Juan Peron fed a steady stream of propaganda to newspapers, magazines, radio, television, and movies.

This was followed by a declaration from Subsecretary of the Interior Carlos Manuel Muniz that the government is seeking a "prompt solution" of the La Prensa case. That big, independent newspaper—a strong critic of Peronism—was expropriated in 1951 and turned over to the pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor (CGT).

THEN THE GOVERNMENT announced it was lifting immediately its temporary administration (intervention) from the Socialist newspaper La Vanguardia and that the newspaper El Norte in Salta province had resumed publication.

El Norte was closed Wednesday by the authorities and its editor Luis Giacosa, was arrested for supporting an outlawed three-day general strike called by the CGT.

Area Woman Hurt In 2-Car Mishap

A Grahamsville woman suffered lacerations of the head and knee in a two-car collision at 6:30 p. m. yesterday on Route 55 about five miles west of Napanoch, according to Ellenville State Police.

She was Mrs. Helen Furman, 52, who was riding as a passenger in a 1941 sedan operated by her husband, Maurice Furman, 54.

The Furman vehicle, traveling east, was in collision with a 1948 sedan operated by John Gratton Reynolds, 62, of Lackawack, traveling west, Cpl. N. G. Lecakes reported.

HE SAID the Reynolds car swerved into the eastbound lane, striking the Furman car in the left front side and continuing without stopping.

Mr. Reynolds was arrested on two charges—leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson and released in $50 bail in custody of his wife. A hearing before Judge Poppel will be held on Nov. 29.

Soviet Leaders On Second Day Of Indian Tour

New Delhi, India, Nov. 19 (AP)—Russia's Premier Nikoli Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev turned tourist today for a look at New Delhi's famous historic spots.

A sightseeing tour on the second day of their 18-day state visit to India also gave the Soviet leaders an opportunity to pay homage to Mahatma Gandi, whom the Soviet Union once termed "reactionary."

THE ITINERARY for the tour was not announced beforehand, and security measures covered the Russians' swing around the city. But the presence of hundreds of police tipped the public where the Soviet visitors were heading, and crowds gathered all along the route.

Despite the police lines the crowds threatened at least once to overwhelm the open car in which Bulganin and Khrushev were riding.

The tour started at the site of Gandhi's cremation.

The two Soviet leaders sat on a stone bench to remove their shoes and advanced to the Gandhi memorial where each placed a huge floral wreath.

JUST OVER A YEAR ago the Indian government protested informally to Moscow on learning that the official Soviet encyclopedia said Gandhi "pretended in a demogogic way" to lead the Indian independence movement.

Some observers thought today's tribute represented Russian atonement for the Gandhi reference.

From the cremation site the Russians went to see New Delhi's famed red sandstone fort built by the Monghuls 300 years ago and the site of the last resistance by Indian Sepoys in the 1857 mutiny against the British.

They walked over a 100-yard long red carpet to see the largest mosque in India, Jama Masjid, and viewed the 700-year-old victory tower which has been rebuilt by various imperial rulers over the centuries.

State Farm . . .

production and eventually raise farm prices.

Stanley H. Benham, a Republican and newly elected president of the 23,000-member Dairymen's League, urged adoption of a "soil bank" plan partly to replace the present national program. Under such a plan, the government would rent land from the farmer and take it out of production.

This proposal has been advocated frequently to the touring Senate committee, which has held hearings in all major farm areas of the country. Twenty-five witnesses were scheduled for here.

The dairy organizations and the Farm Bureau are considered generally Republican in makeup. In the past, the dairy groups have given at least passive support to the principle of the Eisenhower-Benson program. The Farm Bureau has supported it staunchly.

The lead-off witness was Frank B. Lent, attorney for the Metropolitan Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, which claims 6,000 members. Lent told the committee headed by Sen. Ellender (D.-La.):

"Reducing prices will not reduce production. Fixed costs because of large capital investments must be met...therefore, if prices go down (the farmer) must put on more cows to make more milk to get the same required number of dollars."

Sabotage . . .

tude it needed so badly to clear the hill south of the runway.

"I just don't know what happened. We'll just have to wait for a full investigation."

That, the five Civil Aeronautics Board experts said today, is just what they plan to make—starting from scratch this morning with an informal discussion of the problem at Boeing Field.

Stevenson . . .

dress the diners.

Stevenson, the only declared candidate for the nomination, is scheduled to speak at 11:15 p. m. EST. His address will be carried by NBS and ABC radio and television networks.

More than 2,500 reservations, a spokesman said, have been made for the dinner winding up a three-day party rally.

Kefauver's remarks at the news conference overshadowed most other political talk yesterday. He stated that telegrams of greetings to local Democratic meetings, signed off with Stevenson's name, had been sent from national committee headquarters in Washington.

"It's not proper for the national committee to espouse the candidacy of any one person," Kefauver said. "In times past there is evidence that they have been trying to help Mr. Stevenson."

Saying he had been told of "four or five" such instances, Kefauver added, "I am not complaining now, but I just don't think it's proper."

Butler quickly denied the committee had dispatched any such messages. The committee said, he added, had been instructed not to take sides.

Stephen A. Mitchell, former national chairman, also denied the charges, stating he was not "aware that any such thing happened."

THERE WAS NO comment from Stevenson or Harriman, who told reporters he had no announcements of candidacy in mind. Before leaving New York yesterday Harriman said "whoever the next Democratic candidate will be, he will be the next president of the United States."

Harriman insisted to newsmen that he himself is not a candidate, although he is expected to be the "favorite son" of the big New York delegation to the convention.

barn was estimated at $1,500 and the Ukrainian barn at $1,000. The Ukrainian barn is located on Foordmore avenue, a road connecting Routes 209 and 44-55, used as a route bypassing the village of Kerhonkson.

Cpl. Lecakes said there was "definitely a time situation" involved in the two fires and that they were under investigation.

Arthur Chipp of the Kerhonkson Volunteer Fire Department said no other buildings were located close to the barn on the Ukrainian Estate. There is a new housing development about a quarter of a mile away in the direction of the Minnewaska Trail.

Chief Harry Decker of the Kerhonkson Fire Department was in charge at the scene of the blaze which destroyed the Ukrainian barn.

Heiselman's

when we do our community planning?

"What would happen to business volume, employment opportunities, real estate assessments and tax revenues in our uptown business district if a competitive shopping center, with a large department store and many other retail outlets, were built on the outskirts, with parking space for hundreds of automobiles?

"If we are to maintain our corporate balance, would it not be wise to locate the new county building on the outskirts, thereby taking many cars off streets and parking areas which are urgently needed by those who have business to transact with merchants, lawyers, financial institutions and others located in the uptown section?

"IT IS GENERALLY agreed that uptown needs more off-street parking space. Should not some thought be given to razing all of the county buildings in the Main and Fair street area, and after combining this land with the Main street parking lot, erect thereon a multi-story parking facility to accommodate a thousand cars? Steel structures to serve this purpose have been built in some cities. Push button control stows the cars away and bring them quickly down. If found feasible a parking authority could be created to build and operate it and amortize the bonds from parking revenues.

"In selecting the location of the new county office building, we should look well into the future and not plan for today only.

"If the population of this area continues to increase, and real estate values continue to rise, the day might well come when it will be advisable and advantageous to consolidate all functions of county government at the new office building location. Such a move would make the valuable court house site available for commercial use. Proper utilization of space in business districts, where land is scarce and values are high, is an important factor contributing to the proper growth and development of a city. Only by proper spacé utilization can we be assured that sufficient tax revenues will flow into municipal treasuries to defray the costs of an expanding and growing community.

"It is wholesome, and, I hope, beneficial, to have a public discussion of a matter that is so vital to all concerned. This letter is written in the belief that participation of the people in arriving at important community decisions should be encouraged."

Texas Housewife Wins Car for Life

In a dramatic, overtime finish, Mrs. John Anderson, a Ft. Worth housewife, outscored two male opponents to win the first of four nationally-televised "Dodge for Life" contests Nov. 12. Wife of a carpenter, Mrs. Anderson, 37, correctly answered the 12th of a series of safety questions, and for her victory will receive a new car every year of her life. So excited when informed by Bert Parks (right), noted quizmaster, that she had won, she had to leave the victory dinner after the contest and return to her hotel to rest.

Diabetes Testing Strip Circulated In Ulster County

Ulster county will be one of approximately 1,000 communities in the United States which will use the St. Louis Dreypak, a testing strip, to check for signs of diabetes during Diabetes Week, November 13 to 19, it was announced by Dr. Curtis P. Bight, who is heading the local Diabetes Detection Drive.

THE ST. LOUIS Dreypak, a simple method of collecting dried specimens of urine for processing with Benedict's Solution, was first made available last year throughout the country for mass screenings of the public.

Dr. Bight stated that about 10,000 of the St. Louis Dreypaks will be distributed free at drug stores and industrial concerns in Ulster county during Diabetes Week.

The St. Louis Dreypaks contain complete instructions. They are to be returned by mail.

The St. Louis Dreypak is composed of a small piece of white filter paper impregnated with sodium fluoride and stapled to a plastic-coated paper.

THE FILTER PAPER is dipped into urine and allowed to dry overnight. After the printed form on the strip has been filled out by the person tested, it is placed in an envelope supplied for that purpose and returned to a designated collection center for testing.

At the laboratory, the testing strip is immersed for two minutes in boiling Benedict's solution and the results of the test may be determined immediately. After completing the test, the collection station can then notify the testee of the result by merely detaching a flap on the double-purpose envelope and remailing it with the report.

FROM 25 TO 35 St. Louis Dreypaks can be processed at one time with the aid of one technician and one or two skilled workers. Five hundred Dreypaks can be processed in an hour.

A considerable number of residents of the county of Ulster have already availed themselves of the testing facilities and returned the Dreypak. It is expected that before the end of this week, most of the 10,000 distributed Dreypaks will have been used.

Today is the last day of this year's diabetes detection drive. The Ulster County Medical Society urges everyone in Ulster county to take advantage of the opportunity of a free diabetes test today. Every drug store in the county has a supply of test kits.

Cracked Siding Invites Trouble

Driving, windblown rain is one of the most troublesome sources of outside moisture. When frame walls are improperly constructed or have been permitted to deteriorate, driving rains can often damage paint films, rot timbers and sometimes ruin interior decorations.

Obviously, cracked clapboards which permit rain to get inside a wall should be replaced.

Nails should be properly set and adequately covered with putty. If this is not done, the paint film around the nailhead will be broken by the expansion and contraction of the board, thus permitting damaging moisure to enter the nailhole and find its way between clapboard and sheathing.

Painting Technique

Use semi-circular strokes when you're painting a wall with a brush. When you're within six inches of a window or door frame, work with vertical strokes to within one inch of the frame. Then turn your brush sideways and finish with long, steady strokes.

Aluminum Use Advantageous on Outside of Homes

In this day and age you can find quite a lot of aluminum around the outside of a house. There are aluminum windows, not to mention aluminum storm sashes and window screens. Some people have aluminum gutters and downspouts and some have aluminum flashing or awnings.

Now aluminum won't corrode but certain types will pit especially if they are subject to salt air and the bright surface of any aluminum will discolor from soot and dirt.

As far as the discoloration from dirt goes, there are several things that can be done. One is just not to notice the discoloration. Another way out is to paint the aluminum. The paint, of course, will have to be renewed from time to time or washed.

If you wish, the aluminum can be coated with wax which prevents pitting and discoloration. The trouble is that in time the wax will become dirty and must be removed before a fresh coating of wax can be applied.

Aluminum can be cleaned with soap and water but this is a time-consuming job and will have to be repeated at frequent intervals especially if you live in a locality where there is a good deal of soot or smog. Some people clean their aluminum with steel wool but this has a tendency to scratch the surface. There are, however, special aluminum cleaners on the market which will clean the surface and also give it a protective coating against discoloration.

Shokan

Shokan, Nov. 18 — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill of Poughkeepsie were callers here Sunday evening. The Hills had been up in the mountains where they enjoyed some skiing Saturday.

Saturday and Sunday evening, Nov. 26 and 27, the movie "Martin Luther" will be shown in the Ashokan Methodist Church.

R. A. Heiss of Hackensack, N. J., was in Shokan during the weekend. Heiss is an enthusiastic collector of old and rare buttons.

People of the town of Hunter in neighboring Greene county may have to wait till the first of the year to learn the full vote on supervisor last Tuesday. Absentee and contested ballots could affect the outcome according to The Examiner which says that the count now stands 679 for Mansfield Showers, Democrat, to 678 for Edward Farrell, Republican candidate.

Alex Sharp, Central Hudson utility dealer representative for Olive and some adjacent territory, was a recent caller in the village. Sharp, formerly of the Albany area, is building a home on the Ohayo Mountain road not far from Woodstock village.

A heavy thunder shower broke over the north reservoir country shortly after 3 o'clock Monday morning.

Up in the town of Hardenburgh, where all the Republican candidates were elected to office, Robert Fuller, running for councilman, was defeated by Benn Fuller. The two are father and son, respectively, and they work the same farm in that isolated Ulster county township.

Recent callers in the village center included the following: Harry Wikane, Stone Ridge; Lester Mack, Wallkill fruit grower and antiques dealer and Harlow McLean, Broadhead War I veteran. Also Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merrihew, Nettie Van Buren and Edith Robbins, all long time residents of Brodhead.

The young married couple also might like to build "The Lane" because it is the type of home that can grow along with the family's needs. Since the first floor can provide complete living facilities, it is not necessary to finish the second story at the time the house is originally constructed. Until the second floor is completed the dining room can serve as a bedroom; the living room can do double duty as a combination living and dining room.

With overall measurements of 31' x 22', "The Lane" has a cubage of 18,800 feet. Therefore, the house can be built on a 55-foot lot. Although no garage is specified in the plans, you can have either a detached or attached garage constructed by making arrangements with your contractor. Whether you plan to have a garage built at the same time as the house or at some future date, be sure to provide a large enough lot.

Two windows, one in the front wall and another in the right wall make the 11'4"x11' dining room pleasant and well lighted; should you use this room as a temporary bedroom you'll appreciate the cross ventilation from these windows. Throughout "The Lane" the abundance of windows make this a bright and cheerful home.

In the all-modern kitchen there is a roomy breakfast nook where the family can easily eat lunch and even dinner if the housewife prefers to save her dining room set and her "best" table service for more formal occasions. The spacious broom closet, where you can keep all types of cleaning supplies and equipment, and the movable counter which can be moved out of the way when not in use, are two sure-to-be-appreciated features of this well-planned kitchen.

Larger in size than the conventional lavatory, the one in "The Lane" can easily hold a shower, if you care to have one installed. Should you plan to live on the first floor until the second story is completed, you'll find this larger lavatory especially welcome.

In the full cement basement of "The Lane" the heating plant should be under the living room; the laundry should be located under the kitchen or lavatory.

First Aid On Furniture

Surface scratches on a walnut table can be easily and quickly obliterated. Rub the meat of a walnut or a brazil nut over the marred surface until the scratches disappear. The nut meats stain them to match the original finish. Apply a coat of paste wax and polish.

To remove the scratches from a piece of mahogany furniture, try the iodine treatment. Wrap a small amount of absorbent cotton around the end of a toothpick, dip the cotton into a bottle of iodine and rub gently directly into the scratches. Avoid rubbing the iodine on the unscratched portions of the wood. After this has dried thoroughly, apply a coat of paste wax and buff.

Dents in wooden surfaces can often be removed in the following manner: Cover the dent with about six thicknesses of damp cheesecloth. (Wet the cheesecloth thoroughly annd then gently squeeze out excess moisture.) Place a bottle cap metal side down, directly over the dent. Press a hot iron on the bottle cap. Repeat several times until the dent has disappeared. Allow the area to dry thoroughly, then wax and polish.

Dodges Threat Of Singleton

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the Winter National Championships begin in Miami Beach a week from today, watch for the name of Charles J. Solomon in the reports of the winners. Charlie one of my favorite partners, has been winning tournaments regularly for the last 15 or 20 years, and this is no year for him to stop.

At the Summer National Tournament, held in Chicago in August, Solomon was a member of the winning team. All members of the team will go to Paris next January to play against the European champions for the world title. Charlie Solomon can be expected to play up to the best American standards, as today's hand makes quite clear.

Charlie found himself in a contract of six hearts after very lively bidding. West led the nine of spades, an obvious singleton in view of East's bid, and it was up to Charlie to find a way to make his contract.

After brief thought, Solomon won the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades, and cashed the top diamonds—discarding the queen and king of clubs! Strange discards, but absolutely necessary.

Charlie next ruffed a diamond, establishing dummy's long suit, drew three rounds of trumps, and let the deuce of clubs towards dummy.

West had only clubs left. He could take the ace of clubs but then had to lead a club to dummy's jack. Thanks to the discard of the queen and king, dummy could win this trick, after which the long diamonds allowed declarer to discard all of the losing spades.

Wouldn't you give your eye teeth to have played this hand?

Thanksgiving Clothing Collection Next Week

Hundreds of thousands of pounds of clothing, blankets and shoes for the needy overseas, will be pouring into Catholic parishes throughout the New York Archdiocese Thanksgiving week as the seventh annual clothing collection sponsored by the Catholic Bishops of the United States gets underway here.

Francis Cardinal Spellman is honorary chairman of the week long drive which opens this Sunday with an envelope collection and appeals from the pulpits of all Catholic churches. The campaign will continue during the week with volunteers staffing Catholic schools and parish halls where clothing donations will be received.

In last year's Thanksgiving appeal, 845,687 pounds of clothing were collected in the New York Archdiocese. This was the greatest amount raised to date and was practically one tenth of the total contributed nationally.

The Catholic Bishops Thanksgiving Collection is a once-a-year appeal for used clothing to be shipped overseas for free distribution to the needy without regard to race, color or creed.

Hudson Valley Hospital Auxiliaries Attend Discussion Sessions in Hudson

Mrs. George C. Rifenbary, president of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, and Mrs. Clyde E. Wonderly, Jr., membership chairman, attended as guests, the annual meeting and open forum discussion of the Columbia Memorial Hospital, at the Elks Club in Hudson Thursday.

Approximately 350 members of hospital auxiliaries in the Hudson valley area attended this meeting. Auxiliary members were present from Troy, Livingston, Claverack, Poughkeepsie, Albany, Cobleskill, Germantown, Hudson, Stockport, Glens Falls, Cohoes, Goshen, Newburgh, Pittsfield, Rhinebeck and Kingston.

Sessions began at 11 a. m. with table talks consisting of volunteer services, ways and means, hospitality and gift cart, publicity, public relations, and many more phases of hospital volunteer work. Each table was presided over by a chairman of that particular interest, from the Columbia Memorial Hospital.

After the luncheon a summary by each chairman of matters discussed at their various tables was given, which proved very helpful and interesting to the audience.

Raymond Sloan, a man who has devoted a great deal of years to hospital work, who is president of Modern Hospital Publications, a member of the board of the Memorial Hospital in New York and Thayer Hospital in Waterville, Me., addressed the assemblage in a most inspiring and interesting talk. Mr. Sloan impressed upon those auxiliary members in attendance the distinctions of a hospital auxiliary. First of all, to be an interpreter of hospital service, and to have knowledge of the community. To make friends for the hospital, we interpret properly the knowledge of hospital service, and to enable members to answer questions intelligently about the hospital. To analyze yourself in the faith you have in your attitude toward the hospital in the work you are doing and hospitals in general. Mr. Sloan stressed also, that an auxiliary is not a power in itself, but one unit of a hospital serving on a hospital team, and that they must conform to policies set by their board of trustees.

Mr. Sloan also stressed the need of auxiliaries being assured that their volunteer service is needed, because without thm the hospitals could not function. Mr. Sloan, in his closing remarks stated, that the volunteer work the auxiliary members are doing in hospitals, has enriched the lives of so many, and has sustained the volunteer spirit which has been the basis for world success.

After the meeting, Mrs. Wonderly and Mrs. Rifenbary were taken on a tour of the Columbia Memorial hospital, by Mrs. Henry Noerling.

The next regular meeting of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Nurse's Home at 7:45 p. m. All auxiliary members are urged to attend, as a more complete report will be given by those delegates attending this conference. A film, "The Traitor Within" will be shown, with Dr. Herbert Derman as commentator. Final plans will also be formulated for the auxiliary's annual dance, and committee chairmen will be announced. As there will be no December meeting, all members are urged to attend this final meeting for the year 1955.

We wish to thank all those who in any way contributed to the success of our recent card party.

Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center, Mrs. Dorothy W. Buehring, special education teacher, George Washington School and Mrs. Olive Furman, interested parent, attended the public hearing of the Joint Legislative Committee on Mental Retardation held at the Gramatan Hotel, Bronxville, yesterday.

The purpose of the public hearings held throughout the state are to afford interested and informed citizens in all counties and cities of the state an opportunity to present their views and suggestions directly to the committee. Individuals and representatives from associations and agencies in the field of mental hygiene, education, health, hospitals, Social welfare public and private agencies and parents have widely attended the hearings.

Yesterday's session, the Westchester hearing, embraced the following counties: Dutchess, Nassau, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Suffolk, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester. Similar public hearings have been held at Buffalo, Oct. 28; Ithaca, November 4; and Albany, Nov. 11. A hearing scheduled for New York city on November 18-19 will complete state coverage by the committee.

The committee's personnel consists of seven members—three state senators and four assemblymen.

At the Westchester hearing yesterday Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Buehring spoke before the group pointing out the need within Ulster County for individual, group and agency cooperation on problems incident to mental retardation through the formation of an association for the help of the retarded child. The association is nation-wide in scope and is a non-profit organization concerned with the welfare of these children. The purpose of such an organization is to further all aspects of the problem; preventive research, diagnosis, child guidance, parental education, and public enlightenment.

Hudson Valley Hospital Auxiliaries Attend Discussion Sessions in Hudson

Mrs. George C. Rifenbary, president of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, and Mrs. Clyde E. Wonderly, Jr., membership chairman, attended as guests, the annual meeting and open forum discussion of the Columbia Memorial Hospital, at the Elks Club in Hudson Thursday.

Approximately 350 members of hospital auxiliaries in the Hudson valley area attended this meeting. Auxiliary members were present from Troy, Livingston, Claverack, Poughkeepsie, Albany, Cobleskill, Germantown, Hudson, Stockport, Glens Falls, Cohoes, Goshen, Newburgh, Pittsfield, Rhinebeck and Kingston.

Sessions began at 11 a. m. with table talks consisting of volunteer services, ways and means, hospitality and gift cart, publicity, public relations, and many more phases of hospital volunteer work. Each table was presided over by a chairman of that particular interest, from the Columbia Memorial Hospital.

After the luncheon a summary by each chairman of matters discussed at their various tables was given, which proved very helpful and interesting to the audience.

Raymond Sloan, a man who has devoted a great deal of years to hospital work, who is president of Modern Hospital Publications, a member of the board of the Memorial Hospital in New York and Thayer Hospital in Waterville, Me., addressed the assemblage in a most inspiring and interesting talk. Mr. Sloan impressed upon those auxiliary members in attendance the distinctions of a hospital auxiliary. First of all, to be an interpreter of hospital service, and to have knowledge of the community. To make friends for the hospital, we interpret properly the knowledge of hospital service, and to enable members to answer questions intelligently about the hospital. To analyze yourself in the faith you have in your attitude toward the hospital in the work you are doing and hospitals in general. Mr. Sloan stressed also, that an auxiliary is not a power in itself, but one unit of a hospital serving on a hospital team, and that they must conform to policies set by their board of trustees.

Mr. Sloan also stressed the need of auxiliaries being assured that their volunteer service is needed, because without thm the hospitals could not function. Mr. Sloan, in his closing remarks stated, that the volunteer work the auxiliary members are doing in hospitals, has enriched the lives of so many, and has sustained the volunteer spirit which has been the basis for world success.

After the meeting, Mrs. Wonderly and Mrs. Rifenbary were taken on a tour of the Columbia Memorial hospital, by Mrs. Henry Noerling.

The next regular meeting of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Nurse's Home at 7:45 p. m. All auxiliary members are urged to attend, as a more complete report will be given by those delegates attending this conference. A film, "The Traitor Within" will be shown, with Dr. Herbert Derman as commentator. Final plans will also be formulated for the auxiliary's annual dance, and committee chairmen will be announced. As there will be no December meeting, all members are urged to attend this final meeting for the year 1955.

We wish to thank all those who in any way contributed to the success of our recent card party.

Juvenile Problem Aired in Talks At Youth Forum

The legal technicalities involved in handling problem youths and the concepts of juvenile delinquent, youthful offender and wayward minor were discussed at a Youth Forum held at Presentation Church parish hall Sunday morning and conducted by John Schick, assistant district attorney.

It was the consensus of those in attendance that the talks and subsequent discussion covered many of the vital problems of modern youth in a most interesting and informative manner. Interest in the subject matter was evident by the fact that the discussion period had to be discontinued after lasting a full hour.

THE MEETING IN Port Ewen was sponsored by the parish Holy Name Society with the support of the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association and the Magistrates Association. The latter two organizations have made a standing offer to cooperate with any group in the county desiring to arrange a forum similar to that held at Port Ewen.

Mr. Schick set the groundwork for the discussion by explaining in language intelligible to the layman, some of the technicalities involved in handling youth problems.

He then explained the specific handling of each type as provided for by the laws of New York State and proceeded to point out the precise role of the district attorney's office, law enforcement agencies and juvenile court. He put special stress on the remedial function of these agencies meaning that trouble is already present when they enter the picture.

OTHER AGENCIES in the community must do most of the preventive work in youth work.

President Thomas J. Murphy of the Grand Jurors, who already has participated in several such discussions, expressed gratification at the high degree of audience participation. He was especially impressed by the intense questions and comments of the parents present. "Remarkable also," he commented, "was the frank and pointed contributions of the young people."

President Raymond Dempsey of Presentation Holy Name Society noted especially the emphasis on the following points in the discussion: sale of alcohol to minors; the problem of responsibility of parents for the childrens' delinquencies and crimes in the present structure of our state laws; the repeated emphasis on the need for making a community youth program specific in its details.

The most important point made toward the close of the session was the hope of all that the discussion will be followed by action in the Port Ewen community — and the hope that other groups in the county would make use of the forum method for facing the problems of their youth.

Representing the company in the city is George M. Carpenter, whose office is located at 319 Wall street.

"The growth and success of Beneficial," Mr. Wildman added, "is due entirely to the well-selected and well-trained men and women who operate our branches. Saugerties P-TA Hears Centralization Topic

Saugerties, Nov. 19 — The "Centralized School Today" was the topic of the program presented at the Saugerties Parent Teacher Association meeting Wednesday evening under the direction of Miss Grace Anderson, chairman. The need for intelligent planning of a new school building by all members of the centralized district was particularly stressed.

Miss Anedrson pointed out that the building of a schooll should be the concern of every one, not just the board of education, the superintendent, the department of education, and the architects.

Through the use of a filmstrip, she showed how people of varied backgrounds, interests, abilities and occupations could and should work together in planning a school and in making the necessary financial arrangements. By means of a movie, desirable features of a modern central school were shown.

Preceding the formal program, the Saugerties Adult Education String Orchestra played two selections which were very favorably received. The orchestra is under the supervision of Miss Mildred Brady.

During the business meeting the members voted to hold a dance on December 28 for teenage students, Saugerties alumni, and friends. The association also voted to sponsor a musical February 13.

Rotary Governor Visits Phoenicia

The Rotary Club of Phoenicia was host to Wendell E. Phillips, Governor of the 256th District of Rotary International, who made his official visit Thursday.

Mr. Phillips is a partner in the wholesale building materials business of Almarin Phillips and Son in Port Jervis. He is a former mayor of Port Jervis and was, for two years, president of the Conference of Mayors of the State of New York. He is a veteran of both world wars and past president of the New York State Dept. of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States. He was elected District Governor of Rotary International for the 1955-56 fiscal year at Rotary's Golden Anniversary Convention in Chicago last June. He is one of 238 District Governors promoting the activtiies of some 8,700 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 414,000 business and professional executives in 92 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

WHEREVER Rotary Clubs are located, President John L. McGrath asserted in discussing the Governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Phoenicia because they are based on the same general objectives — developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the past fiscal year, 416 Rotary Clubs were organized in 50 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the islands of the Pacific.

Civil Liberties Is Meeting Topic Of Women Voters

The League of Women Voters in conjunction with the Adult Education program at the New Paltz High School held their first meeting of the "Freedom Agenda Project" Monday evening. Twelve people were present to take part in the lively discussion about civil liberties. The next meeting will be on November 28.

Next Monday evening, November 21 is the date for the third meeting of the popular "Reading and Discussions in Literature" group led by Mr. Lappan. The topic for discussion at this meeting will be "Macbeth."

BEGINNING on Tuesday, Nov. 29 the Adult Education program is going to venture out for the first time into the field of parent education when the first of a series of meetings of those who are planning to send their children to college will be held.

These discussions led by Mrs. Joan Stange, guidance director at the high school are planned to answer the many questions in the minds of those parents regarding such things as what scholarships are available; which colleges are noted for various types of instruction; what plans should be made ahead of time; how the college education might be financed, etc.

All parents who have children who are planning to go on to college are urged to attend these meetings even though the child will not be ready for college for several years.

Juvenile Problem Aired in Talks At Youth Forum

The legal technicalities involved in handling problem youths and the concepts of juvenile delinquent, youthful offender and wayward minor were discussed at a Youth Forum held at Presentation Church parish hall Sunday morning and conducted by John Schick, assistant district attorney.

It was the consensus of those in attendance that the talks and subsequent discussion covered many of the vital problems of modern youth in a most interesting and informative manner. Interest in the subject matter was evident by the fact that the discussion period had to be discontinued after lasting a full hour.

THE MEETING IN Port Ewen was sponsored by the parish Holy Name Society with the support of the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association and the Magistrates Association. The latter two organizations have made a standing offer to cooperate with any group in the county desiring to arrange a forum similar to that held at Port Ewen.

Mr. Schick set the groundwork for the discussion by explaining in language intelligible to the layman, some of the technicalities involved in handling youth problems.

He then explained the specific handling of each type as provided for by the laws of New York State and proceeded to point out the precise role of the district attorney's office, law enforcement agencies and juvenile court. He put special stress on the remedial function of these agencies meaning that trouble is already present when they enter the picture.

OTHER AGENCIES in the community must do most of the preventive work in youth work.

President Thomas J. Murphy of the Grand Jurors, who already has participated in several such discussions, expressed gratification at the high degree of audience participation. He was especially impressed by the intense questions and comments of the parents present. "Remarkable also," he commented, "was the frank and pointed contributions of the young people."

President Raymond Dempsey of Presentation Holy Name Society noted especially the emphasis on the following points in the discussion: sale of alcohol to minors; the problem of responsibility of parents for the childrens' delinquencies and crimes in the present structure of our state laws; the repeated emphasis on the need for making a community youth program specific in its details.

The most important point made toward the close of the session was the hope of all that the discussion will be followed by action in the Port Ewen community — and the hope that other groups in the county would make use of the forum method for facing the problems of their youth.

Kerhonkson Cage Club Has Good Starting Five, Lacks Reserve Strength

Chick Meehan, Kerhonkson High School basketball coach, has a problem.

A problem, to be sure, is nothing new to a member of the coaching ranks.

Meehan, however, is bothered by one of depth. Reviewing his KHS cage squad, he finds himself with a good starting team but little reserve talent.

KERHONKSON launches its league campaign on December 2 against Highland.

The team will be seeking to improve a 10-5 overall record and a third-place Ulster County Athletic League finish of last winter.

Meehan has lost only two players — Carlton Connor and Bob Probst — from the 1955 squad.

Five full-time operators are back for action. They include Werner Wustrau, John Mustion, Art Stockin, Dick Steers and and Floyd Sherman. Each has two or more years of varsity experience behind him.

Wustrau, at six-three, is the tallest of the returnees. Mustion stands six-two.

TWO OTHER boys who could break into the starting contingent are Tom Gates (6-3) and junior Tom Gilman.

Other varsity players are Bill Smith, Bill Mustion, Neil Botsford and Don Decker.

"It looks like we'll finish in about the same position," Meehan declares. The Kerhonkson mentor rates Saugerties as the team to beat in UCAL ranks.

"W'LL GIVE ANYBODY a run for their money," Meehan says, "and if some of the boys come along, we might cause real trouble. But right now we don't have the depth."

The junior varsity has a number of promising players. Among them are Fred Wustrau, Bill Bendell, Joe Sciarrino, Jim Smith, Bill Stone, Bruce Barthel, Wayne Kelder, Wayne Connor and Art Crose.

The Kerhonkson schedule:

Date	Opponent	Place
Nov. 29	Grahamsville	Away
Dec. 2	Highland	Home
Dec. 6	Fallsburgh	Home
Dec. 9	Wallkill	Away
Dec. 13	Montgomery	Away

The increasing popularity of impregnated bamboo rods has brought numerous inquiries lately on just what impregnation means to the angler.

The growth structure of bamboo is entirely different than that presented by wood. The coarse, open cell structure characteristic of various woods is totally absent. In its place are found bundles of microscopic fibers laid parellel to each other, much like the strands within the sheath of a bridge cable.

THE SPACES, between adjacent bundles or cords of the bamboo are filled with a thermoplastic resin. Toward the outer surface of the hollow shell the number of these fibrous surface strands increases rapidly. Just below the outer protective enamel, bamboo is composed almost entirely of these cellulose fibers.

Thus, considered from the innermost surface outwardly, the fiber structure, density and strength of bamboo vary enormously. From the standpoint of use as a rod-building material, this inherent characteristic is most desirable.

The primary function of impregnation process is to deposit a waterproof solid throughout the fiber structure, as well as along the wall surfaces of the wood (or bamboo) cells. It is not intended that the coarse open grain be impregnated completely, as this would merely add weight without rendering additional benefits from the waterproofing standpoint.

ALL THAT is apparently necessary is a complete covering of the inner fibers and cells; and in bamboo, at least, a weight deposit (measured after drying and curring) of 20 per cent is considered adequate.

The initial pioneer work in the plastic impregnation treatment was done by U. S. Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis. The process was originally developed to prevent excessive swelling and shrinking of wood due to variations in moisture content. The wood is impregnated with resins which serve as a block, preventing the entrance of moisture into the cell structure of the wood.

BAMBOO STRIPS can be processed prior to gluing into sections, or the glued-up section may be treated. Aside from imparting water the weather-proof characteristics to the cane, undoubtedly the most outstanding feature of impregnation lies in the appearance of the finished product.

Ordinary finishing operations impart a surface of extraordinary beauty—satin-smooth and dark mahogany in color.

Harry Markson didn't tell the story on himself at the Joe Kelly testimonial but the toastmaster recalled one of Jimmy Cannon's tales about the scholarly managing director of the International Boxing Club.

It seemed that Harry's affinity for classical music, his erudition, and all-around class stemming from a degree at Union College made him slightly suspect with the solid denizens of Jacobs Beach. He was an "intellectual," you know.

One night Markson had two tickets to a piano concert to be given by Vladimir Horowitz at Carnegie Hall. At the last minute, Mrs. Markson was unable to go, so Harry was stuck with an extra ducat.

Harry chanced to meet Francis Albertanti, a brother press agent in those days, and asked him to take a walk. As they strolled along Broadway, Albertanti was curious to know where Markson was taking him.

"To hear Vladimir Horowitz," Markson replied to Albertanti's query.

"Who the h—— is Horowitz?"

"A piano player," replied Harry.

"What joint does he play in?" Albertani persisted.

A moment later, Harry discovered that brother Albertanti had been engulfed by the Times Square throng . . . missing by choice. It was several days before Albertanti would speak to him.

"I guess he thought I was leading him into a trap," Markson quipped.

Although he spoke glowingly of James D. Norris and Truman Gibson and, in effect, said boxing needed no defense from its detractors, Markson was whimsical in his reference to the mail received by the IBC since the TV cameras started bringing boxing into the country's living rooms.

"The TV viewer is smarter and more literate than his radio predecessor and we're impressed more by the quality than the quantity of today's correspondence," he said

"In the radio days we'd get gripe letters that would start something like this. . . . You thieving bums . . .

"Today," Markson went on, "a letter is more likely to start . . . 'You incorrigible reprobates.' . . . The folks are developing style and class.

Charlie Goldman persisted in his belief that Rocky Marciano is the greatest heavyweight champion who ever lived.

"The rap against Rocky has always been 'who has he licked?' " said Goldman. "But no champ ever won every fight like Rocky and several fighters (he named Joe Louis, Jersey Joe Walcott, Lee Savold) never boxed again after Rocky got through with them. . . . Look what he did to Roland La Starza, who was still a young man!"

Jimmy Braddock, the smiling Irishman who is still well preserved and rugged, said he was lucky to beat Max Baer.

When I saw Baer for the first time," he said, "he looked like the biggest man I ever fought." About Joe Louis: "Man, how that guy could hit."

Braddock thought Marciano might have gotten better public relations and had not received the acclaim due a heavyweight champion.

"But as a fighter," the Cinderella Man pointed out, "how can you find fault with a guy who never lost a fight? He's just too strong. He wears them out."

The whole affair was highly successful and the credit goes to Francis J. McCardle and his committee. Working with him were George Dewey Logan, John J. Schwalbach, John L. Machione, all past Exalted Rulers; Richard Ruth, Al Melville, John Larkin, Harry Abramowitz, Walter K. Hubbard, William H. Lieski, Mike Provenzano, Sam N. Mann, Herb Van Deusen, Thomas Bohan and Cleon Jump.

They all helped make Thursday, Nov. 17, a night Joe Kelly will never forget.

Pastrano Gains Win Over Rowan

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Willie Pastrano, from "way down yonder in New Orleans," looks like the best young fighting man to hit the big time since Floyd Patterson came home from the 1952 Olympics.

The nimble dancing master from the bayou land — now transplanted to Miami Beach—may not be able to knock your hat off but he can make all the moves. He made most of them last night at Madison Square Garden while beating Joe Rowan, a plodding aggressor, on a unanimous decision in 10 rounds.

After the match, Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, was calling Willie "a big edition of Willie Pep." Markson planned to contact Whitey Esneault, the kid's manager, by phone in New Orleans the first of the week. He had in mind a rematch with Chuck Spieser, whom he beat July 27, or a possible bout with the winner of the Paul Andrews-Bob Satterfield contest at Buffalo, Nov. 29.

Those who watched the 19-year-old heavyweight (he'll be 20 on Nov. 27) could think of nothing but a match between Pastrano and Patterson, current No. 1 challenger to lightheavy champ Archie Moore. Although Pastrano weighed 181¾, exactly the same as Rowan, he is the No. 2 boy in the 175-pound division. He never had weighed so much for a fight.

"I was a little slower than usual," said Pastrano in his dressing room "a little sluggish. I'm better at 175 or 176."

Pastrano, who used to be taunted as "fat boy Willie" when he was a 180-pound 5-footer at the age of 13, convinced all three officials of his class. Refree Ruby Goldstein and Judge Jack Gordon saw it 7-2-1 and Judge Artie Aidala had it 7-3. The AP card was 8-2, also for Pastrano.

Rose Schatzel Looks Back On Sparkling Pin Career

BY CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Kingston's bowling queen is a woman who wears the mantle of her office with dignity and authority.

Rose Schatzel, "The Queen" of Hudson Valley bowlers, is not only the best woman bowler between New York City and Buffalo; she's also the most respected.

Mrs. Schatzel, the only person to repeat as New York State all-events champion (1950-51), is a dark-haired, dark-eyed, still-attractive woman in her late thirties.

The former Rose Manfro, "The Queen" was born in Flatbush on July 31, 1917. She received her early education at St. Mary's school in Saugerties and graduated from Kingston High School in 1935.

Rose is the wife of John Schatzel, one of Kingston's top male bowlers. Without a doubt they're the best husband-wife combination in the city.

The couple were married in 1941. They have one child, John Anthony, aged 6. The youngster has already thrown his first bowling ball.

SOME PEOPLE may wonder why Rose hasn't hit the bowling headlines so far this season. There could be only one reason: she isn't competing. An addition to the Schatzel clan is expected some time in March, so Rose has taken the winter off, so to speak.

Rose still spends a lot of time at the Bowlodrome, keeping records and instructing.

Family life and bowling do conflict at times, she finds. "But I've always put my family first," Rose declares.

"To be honest, I like bowling for more than the thrill of competing," Rose says. "The people you get to meet are what makes it so nice. I must say that the pleasure has been all mine. True, you make enemies as well as friends, but I think I've made more of the latter."

Rose thinks that the exercise involved in bowling is good for the average woman.

"It keeps you in shape," she declares, "otherwise you sit home and get fat."

To young bowlers, Rose gives this advice: "Don't pat yourself on the back if the fundamentals of the game seem to come easy. To be a really good bowler, you've got to be a good listener."

"I was that way shortly after I started; I didn't take advice the way I should have. But after a while I learned that you've got to have faith in your instructor."

ROSE BEGAN bowling while she was still single. "I used to go to the alleys with John when he was bowling or setting pins," she recalls. "Finally I got interested enough to try it."

Her fiance—now her husband—gave Rose her first bowling lessons in 1940. Johnny Ferraro finished instructing her.

When the first pin league for women was organized in 1940, Rose began competing. Her first year's average was 135. The following season her average jumped 12 points. The next year it was up to 177, then to 184. It took four years for her game to come into its own. After that it leveled off between 185 and 190.

Rose estimates she's rolled at least 100 triples of 600 pins or better.

Her high triple was a 709, rolled on the 11-12 Bowlodrome alleys last winter. The individual games on that one were 267-256-182. "And it would have been even higher if the No. 9 pin hadn't been off spot in the last game," she says.

MRS. SCHATZEL'S triple is not a Kingston high, however. Mrs. John Egan, formerly Elizabeth Schoonmaker, has a 724 to her credit.

Rose's high single is a 279, set in 1953 on the 9-10 Bowlodrome drives.

"The Queen" was also a member of the Kaye Sportwair team which set the high women's total for the city. In 1948 the quintet of Evelyn Gross Moore, Charlotte Lapine, Betty Boyce Bailey, Marge Jansen and Rose powered a 2994 in an exhibition match against a top-flight New York city team. Rose unloaded a 664 triple to pace the local team.

As a bowling organizer and instructor, Rose has no peer in these parts.

When the Kingston Women's Bowling Association was begun, it was Rose who helped get the distaff population interested in the sport.

She has served many times on KWBA boards and committees.

Rose's tutoring has yielded such fine bowlers as Nellie Alverson, Joan Krueger, Flo Beichert and Sue Heins. The last named holds the KWBA single record of 289.

Some of Rose's top bowling thrills have been competing in matches against such stars as Mickey Michaels and Ann Karrer. She beat the former and lost to Miss Karrer.

ONE HIGHLIGHT of her career was winning a six-game match in Cincinnati against the nation's top female keglers.

Mrs. Schatzel usually places among the top in the state all-events standings. She and Elizabeth Egan were second in the state doubles one year; the same pair took fourth in the national event in 1951.

Rose recalled receiving a letter from the late Father Henry E. Herdegen on the eve of an important match. "If prayers are a reality, you're sure to win," the mesasge said. Rose did, and to this day it's one of her most cherished memories.

Bowling has been good to Rose—and vice versa. The chances are that, after her temporary "retirement," this pattern will continue.

Elimination Finals Tomorrow At Central Rec

Four survivors in the National Singles area bowling eliminations clash in the finals Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Central Rec alleys.

The prize to the winner: an expense-paid trip to the national tournament in Chicago in December.

Dick Rhea, Poughkeepsie southpaw ace, led the field with a 197.3 average in the 24-game qualifying round, but Johnny Ferraro, Kingston's old pro, is the favorite.

Rhea totalled 4731 pins for the qualifying round. Ferraro tied with Jerry Oster of Kingston for third place with 4656.

Whitey Crispell of Kingston was second with 4676.

The four bowlers will bowl two games each to determine positions for two match games in the final round.

The Peterson point system, which allots one point for each victory and one point for each 50 pins knocked down, will determine the winner.

Mickoski Paces Black Hawks' Win

(By The Associated Press.)

You can't blame Terry Sawchuk, Boston goal tender, if he has no kind words today for the Chicago Black Hawk's Nick Mickoski.

Sawchuk went into last night's National Hockey League game between Boston and Chicago with a league-leading goals—against average of 1.80 goals a game. When the Hawks got through with a 6-1 victory with Mickoski scoring three times the average was up to 2.06.

The victory boosted the resurgent Hawks into a third place tie with the Bruins.

Mickoski scored two of his goals in the second period and the third in the final session. Sawchuk was credited with 31 saves as the Hawks came up with their best offensive effort of the season. Al Rollins, Chicago goalie, had 39.

Request for Iowa-Notre Dame TV Turned Down

Des Moines, Nov. 19 (AP)—Iowans settled by their radios today for the Iowa-Notre Dame football game after appeals by their governor and State University yesterday failed to bring a statewide telecast of the contest.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association said yesterday it was "physically impossible" at such a late date to poll NCAA members on whether to permit a multi-station telecast of the game at South Bend, Ind.

Both Gov. Leo Hoegh and Paul Brechler, Iowa athletic director, asked Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, to conduct the poll.

WMT-TV Cedar Rapids, designated "home station" for the university, was the only one authorized by the NCAA to televise the game in Iowa.

The Cedar Rapids station has sought NCAA permission to feed the game to three other television stations in Iowa and one in Rock Island, Ill.

The collegiate group turned down the request on the grounds it would confiict with the NCAA's "game of the week" contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

Kerhonkson Cage Club Has Good Starting Five, Lacks Reserve Strength

Chick Meehan, Kerhonkson High School basketball coach, has a problem.

A problem, to be sure, is nothing new to a member of the coaching ranks.

Meehan, however, is bothered by one of depth. Reviewing his KHS cage squad, he finds himself with a good starting team but little reserve talent.

KERHONKSON launches its league campaign on December 2 against Highland.

The team will be seeking to improve a 10-5 overall record and a third-place Ulster County Athletic League finish of last winter.

Meehan has lost only two players — Carlton Connor and Bob Probst — from the 1955 squad.

Five full-time operators are back for action. They include Werner Wustrau, John Mustion, Art Stockin, Dick Steers and and Floyd Sherman. Each has two or more years of varsity experience behind him.

Wustrau, at six-three, is the tallest of the returnees. Mustion stands six-two.

TWO OTHER boys who could break into the starting contingent are Tom Gates (6-3) and junior Tom Gilman.

Other varsity players are Bill Smith, Bill Mustion, Neil Botsford and Don Decker.

"It looks like we'll finish in about the same position," Meehan declares. The Kerhonkson mentor rates Saugerties as the team to beat in UCAL ranks.

"W'LL GIVE ANYBODY a run for their money," Meehan says, "and if some of the boys come along, we might cause real trouble. But right now we don't have the depth."

The junior varsity has a number of promising players. Among them are Fred Wustrau, Bill Bendell, Joe Sciarrino, Jim Smith, Bill Stone, Bruce Barthel, Wayne Kelder, Wayne Connor and Art Crose.

SPORTS by Charles J. Tiano

Harry Markson didn't tell the story on himself at the Joe Kelly testimonial but the toastmaster recalled one of Jimmy Cannon's tales about the scholarly managing director of the International Boxing Club.

It seemed that Harry's affinity for classical music, his erudition, and all-around class stemming from a degree at Union College made him slightly suspect with the solid denizens of Jacobs Beach. He was an "intellectual," you know.

One night Markson had two tickets to a piano concert to be given by Vladimir Horowitz at Carnegie Hall. At the last minute, Mrs. Markson was unable to go, so Harry was stuck with an extra ducat.

Harry chanced to meet Francis Albertanti, a brother press agent in those days, and asked him to take a walk. As they strolled along Broadway, Albertanti was curious to know where Markson was taking him.

"To hear Vladimir Horowitz," Markson replied to Albertanti's query.

"Who the h—— is Horowitz?"

"A piano player," replied Harry.

"What joint does he play in?" Albertani persisted.

A moment later, Harry discovered that brother Albertanti had been engulfed by the Times Square throng . . . missing by choice. It was several days before Albertanti would speak to him.

"I guess he thought I was leading him into a trap," Markson quipped.

Although he spoke glowingly of James D. Norris and Truman Gibson and, in effect, said boxing needed no defense from its detractors, Markson was whimsical in his reference to the mail received by the IBC since the TV cameras started bringing boxing into the country's living rooms.

"The TV viewer is smarter and more literate than his radio predecessor and we're impressed more by the quality than the quantity of today's correspondence," he said

"In the radio days we'd get gripe letters that would start something like this. . . . You thieving bums . . .

"Today," Markson went on, "a letter is more likely to start . . . 'You incorrigible reprobates.' . . . The folks are developing style and class.

Charlie Goldman persisted in his belief that Rocky Marciano is the greatest heavyweight champion who ever lived.

"The rap against Rocky has always been 'who has he licked?'" said Goldman. "But no champ ever won every fight like Rocky and several fighters (he named Joe Louis, Jersey Joe Walcott, Lee Savold) never boxed again after Rocky got through with them. . . . Look what he did to Roland La Starza, who was still a young man!"

Jimmy Braddock, the smiling Irishman who is still well preserved and rugged, said he was lucky to beat Max Baer.

When I saw Baer for the first time," he said, "he looked like the biggest man I ever fought." About Joe Louis: "Man, how that guy could hit."

Braddock thought Marciano might have gotten better public relations and had not received the acclaim due a heavyweight champion.

"But as a fighter," the Cinderella Man pointed out, "how can you find fault with a guy who never lost a fight? He's just too strong. He wears them out."

The whole affair was highly successful and the credit goes to Francis J. McCardle and his committee. Working with him were George Dewey Logan, John J. Schwalbach, John L. Machione, all past Exalted Rulers; Richard Ruth, Al Melville, John Larkin, Harry Abramowitz, Walter K. Hubbard, William H. Lieski, Mike Provenzano, Sam N. Mann, Herb Van Deusen, Thomas Bohan and Cleon Jump.

They all helped make Thursday, Nov. 17, a night Joe Kelly will never forget.

Pastrano Gains Win Over Rowan

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Willie Pastrano, from "way down yonder in New Orleans," looks like the best young fighting man to hit the big time since Floyd Patterson came home from the 1952 Olympics.

The nimble dancing master from the bayou land — now transplanted to Miami Beach—may not be able to knock your hat off but he can make all the moves. He made most of them last night at Madison Square Garden while beating Joe Rowan, a plodding aggressor, on a unanimous decision in 10 rounds.

After the match, Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, was calling Willie "a big edition of Willie Pep." Markson planned to contact Whitey Esneault, the kid's manager, by phone in New Orleans the first of the week. He had in mind a rematch with Chuck Spieser, whom he beat July 27, or a possible bout with the winner of the Paul Andrews-Bob Satterfield contest at Buffalo, Nov. 29.

Those who watched the 19-year-old heavyweight (he'll be 20 on Nov. 27) could think of nothing but a match between Pastrano and Patterson, current No. 1 challenger to lightheavy champ Archie Moore. Although Pastrano weighed 181¾, exactly the same as Rowan, he is the No. 2 boy in the 175-pound division. He never had weighed so much for a fight.

"I was a little slower than usual," said Pastrano in his dressing room "a little sluggish. I'm better at 175 or 176."

Pastrano, who used to be taunted as "fat boy Willie" when he was a 180-pound 5-footer at the age of 13, convinced all three officials of his class. Refree Ruby Goldstein and Judge Jack Gordon saw it 7-2-1 and Judge Artie Aidala had it 7-3. The AP card was 8-2, also for Pastrano.

Rose Schatzel Looks Back On Sparkling Pin Career

BY CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Kingston's bowling queen is a woman who wears the mantle of her office with dignity and authority.

Rose Schatzel, "The Queen" of Hudson Valley bowlers, is not only the best woman bowler between New York City and Buffalo; she's also the most respected.

Mrs. Schatzel, the only person to repeat as New York State all-events champion (1950-51), is a dark-haired, dark-eyed, still-attractive woman in her late thirties.

The former Rose Manfro, "The Queen" was born in Flatbush on July 31, 1917. She received her early education at St. Mary's school in Saugerties and graduated from Kingston High School in 1935.

Rose is the wife of John Schatzel, one of Kingston's top male bowlers. Without a doubt they're the best husband-wife combination in the city.

The couple were married in 1941. They have one child, John Anthony, aged 6. The youngster has already thrown his first bowling ball.

SOME PEOPLE may wonder why Rose hasn't hit the bowling headlines so far this season. There could be only one reason: she isn't competing. An addition to the Schatzel clan is expected some time in March, so Rose has taken the winter off, so to speak.

Rose still spends a lot of time at the Bowlodrome, keeping records and instructing.

Family life and bowling do conflict at times, she finds. "But I've always put my family first," Rose declares.

"To be honest, I like bowling for more than the thrill of competing," Rose says. "The people you get to meet are what makes it so nice. I must say that the pleasure has been all mine. True, you make enemies as well as friends, but I think I've made more of the latter."

Rose thinks that the exercise involved in bowling is good for the average woman.

"It keeps you in shape," she declares, "otherwise you sit home and get fat."

To young bowlers, Rose gives this advice: "Don't pat yourself on the back if the fundamentals of the game seem to come easy. To be a really good bowler, you've got to be a good listener."

"I was that way shortly after I started; I didn't take advice the way I should have. But after a while I learned that you've got to have faith in your instructor."

ROSE BEGAN bowling while she was still single. "I used to go to the alleys with John when he was bowling or setting pins," she recalls. "Finally I got interested enough to try it."

Her fiance—now her husband—gave Rose her first bowling lessons in 1940. Johnny Ferraro finished instructing her.

When the first pin league for women was organized in 1940, Rose began competing. Her first year's average was 135. The following season her average jumped 12 points. The next year it was up to 177, then to 184. It took four years for her game to come into its own. After that it leveled off between 185 and 190.

Rose estimates she's rolled at least 100 triples of 600 pins or better.

Her high triple was a 709, rolled on the 11-12 Bowlodrome alleys last winter. The individual games on that one were 267-256-182. "And it would have been even higher if the No. 9 pin hadn't been off spot in the last game," she says.

MRS. SCHATZEL'S triple is not a Kingston high, however. Mrs. John Egan, formerly Elizabeth Schoonmaker, has a 724 to her credit.

Rose's high single is a 279, set in 1953 on the 9-10 Bowlodrome drives.

"The Queen" was also a member of the Kaye Sportwair team which set the high women's total for the city. In 1948 the quintet of Evelyn Gross Moore, Charlotte Lapine, Betty Boyce Bailey, Marge Jansen and Rose powered a 2994 in an exhibition match against a top-flight New York city team. Rose unloaded a 664 triple to pace the local team.

As a bowling organizer and instructor, Rose has no peer in these parts.

When the Kingston Women's Bowling Association was begun, it was Rose who helped get the distaff population interested in the sport.

She has served many times on KWBA boards and committees.

Rose's tutoring has yielded such fine bowlers as Nellie Alverson, Joan Krueger, Flo Beichert and Sue Heins. The last named holds the KWBA single record of 289.

Some of Rose's top bowling thrills have been competing in matches against such stars as Mickey Michaels and Ann Karrer. She beat the former and lost to Miss Karrer.

ONE HIGHLIGHT of her career was winning a six-game match in Cincinnati against the nation's top female keglers.

Mrs. Schatzel usually places among the top in the state all-events standings. She and Elizabeth Egan were second in the state doubles one year; the same pair took fourth in the national event in 1951.

Rose recalled receiving a letter from the late Father Henry E. Herdegen on the eve of an important match. "If prayers are a reality, you're sure to win," the mesasge said. Rose did, and to this day it's one of her most cherished memories.

Bowling has been good to Rose—and vice versa. The chances are that, after her temporary "retirement," this pattern will continue.

Elimination Finals Tomorrow At Central Rec

Four survivors in the National Singles area bowling eliminations clash in the finals Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Central Rec alleys.

The prize to the winner: an expense-paid trip to the national tournament in Chicago in December.

Dick Rhea, Poughkeepsie southpaw ace, led the field with a 197.3 average in the 24-game qualifying round, but Johnny Ferraro, Kingston's old pro, is the favorite.

Rhea totalled 4731 pins for the qualifying round. Ferraro tied with Jerry Oster of Kingston for third place with 4656.

Whitey Crispell of Kingston was second with 4676.

The four bowlers will bowl two games each to determine positions for two match games in the final round.

The Peterson point system, which allots one point for each victory and one point for each 50 pins knocked down, will determine the winner.

Mickoski Paces Black Hawks' Win

(By The Associated Press.)

You can't blame Terry Sawchuk, Boston goal tender, if he has no kind words today for the Chicago Black Hawk's Nick Mickoski.

Sawchuk went into last night's National Hockey League game between Boston and Chicago with a league-leading goals—against average of 1.80 goals a game. When the Hawks got through with a 6-1 victory with Mickoski scoring three times the average was up to 2.06.

The victory boosted the resurgent Hawks into a third place tie with the Bruins.

Mickoski scored two of his goals in the second period and the third in the final session. Sawchuk was credited with 31 saves as the Hawks came up with their best offensive effort of the season. Al Rollins, Chicago goalie, had 39.

Request for Iowa-Notre Dame TV Turned Down

Des Moines, Nov. 19 (AP)—Iowans settled by their radios today for the Iowa-Notre Dame football game after appeals by their governor and State University yesterday failed to bring a statewide telecast of the contest.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association said yesterday it was "physically impossible" at such a late date to poll NCAA members on whether to permit a multi-station telecast of the game at South Bend, Ind.

Both Gov. Leo Hoegh and Paul Brechler, Iowa athletic director, asked Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, to conduct the poll.

WMT-TV Cedar Rapids, designated "home station" for the university, was the only one authorized by the NCAA to televise the game in Iowa.

The Cedar Rapids station has sought NCAA permission to feed the game to three other television stations in Iowa and one in Rock Island, Ill.

The collegiate group turned down the request on the grounds it would conflict with the NCAA's "game of the week" contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

The faith and credit of said City of Kingston, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds becoming due and payable in such year.

Section 5. It is hereby determined that subdivision 53 of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to the aforesaid object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is five years.

Section 6. It is hereby further determined that such bonds will mature in not to exceed five years, and that no down payment is required, pursuant to Section 107.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 7. The validity of such bonds may be contested only if:

1) Such bonds are authorized for an object or purpose for which said City of Kingston is not authorized to expend money, or
2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this ordinance are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

3) Such bonds are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 8. This ordinance, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full, after approval by the Mayor, in THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN and in the KINGSTON ULSTER PRESS, the official newspapers of said City, together with a Clerk's certificate in substantial conformity with Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Rose Bowl 'Guessing Game' Today; UCLA Meets Southern Cal in TV Tilt

(By The Associated Press)

A grim guessing game called "who is going to the Rose Bowl?" was to be resolved today, the final big Saturday on the college football season, and if form followed the answer figured to come out Michigan and UCLA.

Both Michigan State and Oregon State also were hopeful of tasting the gold and glory of the big Jan. 2 game in Pasadena, Calif.

Michigan had what appeared to be the more difficult task, that of beating rough-and-tumble Ohio State. A Wolverine victory would send them westward. An Ohio State triumph, on the other hand, would give the bid to Michigan State as the Big 10 challenger.

UCLA's task was to whip Southern California in the NCAA's television game of the day starting at 4:30 p. m. (EST) over NBC. The Uclans were without a broken ankle last week. But even so, they rated a touchdown favorite over the sub-par Trojans.

One other team could cement a bowl bid. That would be Texas Christian, which tangled with five-time-beaten Rice. A TCU victory would assure the Horned Frogs the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

THE BIG 10 race has been confused all season and on this, its climax day, Michigan State could do more than check the Michigan-Ohio State game while it played non-conference Marquette.

The Spartans finished their league season last week with a 5-1 mark. Before the Ohio State game, Michigan's record showed 6-1. A victory and it was 7-1. A defeat and it was 6-2. Ohio State, which boasts a spotless record, is ineligible, having played in the Rose Bowl last year.

UCLA, rated No. 5 in the Associated Press poll this week, has been beaten only by Maryland. If the Uclans turn back Southern Cal, they clinch the Pacific Coast title with a 6-0 conference record.

If Southern Cal upended the Uclans, however, and Oregon State scored its expected victory over Oregon, a vote would have to be taken to pick the coast team, for State would show a 6-1 record compared to 5-1 for UCLA.

The ancient Ivy League championship also was up for decision. No bowl bids hinged on the outcome, but the big game was in Princeton, N. J., where Princeton played host to Dartmouth. The Tigers needed the victory to wrap up the crown.

If the men of Tigertown faltered, Yale was ready to step in. A combination Yale triumph over Harvard (their 72nd meeting in a series that began in 1875) and a Dartmouth victory over Princeton would give the mythical title to the Elis.

TWO COACHES — Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin and Bill Glassford of Nebraska—bowed out of the football picture.

Williamson, who in his seven-year reign brought Wisconsin its greatest success in modern times, has been elevated to athletic director of the Badgers.

He directed his team for the last time against Minnesota.

Glassford, who is resigning, had a herculean task on his hands sending his club against Oklahoma, the top team in the land. The Sooners have won 27 games in a row and haven't been defeated in the Big Seven in 52 games.

Maryland, Oklahoma's Orange Bowl opponent and currently ranked No. 2 behind the Sooners, was 20 point-plus over George Washington.

FOUR OTHER teams that are in the running for bowl berths moved into action with victory imperative. West Virginia, trying to regan some of its lost prestige suffered in the Pitt defeat last week, took on Syracuse. Pitt, itself now a candidate, went against Penn State.

Auburn and Tennessee, both nursing Sugar Bowl hopes, tangled with Clemson and Kentucky, respectively.

Miami scored an expected victory over Alabama, 34-12, in the only important game last night.

Other major games in the East today saw Boston University vs. Temple, Columbia vs. Rutgers, Holy Cross vs. Connecticut.

Keelty Named Orioles President

Baltimore, Nov. 19 (AP) — Building contractor James Keelty Jr. was elected president of the Baltimore Orioles yesterday to replace Clarence W. Miles.

Keelty, 43, will serve unpaid in the position for which Miles got $25,000 a year.

The Baltimore builder was promoted from vice president, and the position he vacated was not filled. Neither Keelty nor other Oriole directors would discuss the reason, but speculation is that a suggestion of Miles' is back of it.

Miles, who promoted the money to bring the American League franchise to Baltimore from St. Louis two years ago, said when he resigned that the club ought to hire an "experienced baseball executive." It has no such individual presently, and talk was that if one is hired, he might have the title of "executive vice president."

Keelty and other newly-elected directors unanimously reaffirmed their confidence in general manager-manager Paul Richards and "their wholeheartedly support in his operations of the ball club," which finished seventh. Richards has two more years to go on his contract.

Boston-Chicago Trade Reported

Boston, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Boston Daily Record today said it had learned 'from a reliable source" that the Boston Red Sox have traded pitchers Mel Parnell and Russ Kemmerer and infielder Ted Lepcio to Chicago for pitcher Virgil Trucks and outfielder Bob Nieman.

The Record said the trade "definitely" has been made and "will be announced as soon as the football weekend is off the sports pages."

If the trade materializes it will be the second big deal by the Red Sox within a few weeks. The Sox definitely completed a nine-player swap with Washington which brings first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Bob Porterfield to Boston.

The veteran Trucks, a right hander, won 13 while losing 8 last season and was a 19-game winner in 1954.

General Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox was not available for comment.

Murray proposed that the United States explode an H-bomb before the eyes of world leaders as "a declaration of American power" and to spur the quest for peace. Murray told a newsman earlier that he was speaking for himself and not the AEC.

Plane Is Sought Following Crash In Pennsylvania

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—A searching party trudged through snow today in rugged mountain terrain, checking a report that an airplane may have crashed during a wintry storm.

"It seems to have been a ghost plane," said Dale Murphy, Cumberland county civil defense coordinator. "It came out of the air and vanished into thin air. No one knows where it came from and no one knows where it was going."

MURPHY SAID they received a number of reports last night of the plane having been seen flying low in the mountain area and that it appeared to be in trouble.

A search of the mountain area about 20 miles from Carlisle in south central Pennsylvania was started on foot after plans to put planes into the air were abandoned because of low visibility.

Murhpy placed the possible scene of the crash nine miles southwest of Mt. Holly Springs, in Cumberland county. The search parties based their line of search from Route 34 into the mountainous, heavily wooded region.

THERE WAS only one plane reported missing in the vicinity. A single-engine, four-passenger private plane that took off from Reading, Pa., airport late yesterday afternoon, failed to arrive at New Castle county, Del., airport as scheduled.

Just Peace . . .

to establish a just and durable peace.

"Success may be long in coming, but there is no temporal force so capable of helping achieve it as the strength, the might, the spirit of 165 million free Americans. In striving toward this shining goal, this country will never admit defeat."

Dulles said his three weeks at Geneva "didn't get us anywhere at all."

BUT HE SAID the "spirit of Geneva," flowing from the summit conference which Eisenhower attended in July, lives on even though the Soviet's summertime smiles turned into frowns this fall.

Posing and answering five questions he said "are in the air," Dulles declared he and Eisenhower agree that:

1. The Geneva spirit is not entirely dead because the Russians now shun the "threats and invective" which charactrized their pre-summit diplomacy.

2. The risk of open war with Russia is no greater than in July when Eisenhower said the summit conference had made it "less likely."

3. The cold war is back, but it is "peaceful" and devoid of rankling "hostility and animosity."

4. The Eisenhower administration plans no drastic revision of its defense and aid programs because it never lowered its guard on the basis of Russian promises last July.

5. More talks with Russia would be "foolish" as things now stand. But if the west keeps hanging together the Soviets eventually will come around to making concessions.

DULLES WOUND UP his 4,000-word report, which Eisenhower helped draft, by quoting the President as personally pledging "no setback, no obstacle" will deter the U. S. search for real peace.

"In striving toward this goal," he quoted Eisenhower as telling him, "this country will never admit defeat."

Dulles blamed the Russians for failure of the foreign ministers to reach agreement on a single one of the issues which had been defined by Eisenhower and the premiers of Russia, Britain and France last July.

Rose Bowl 'Guessing Game' Today; UCLA Meets Southern Cal in TV Tilt

(By The Associated Press)

A grim guessing game called "who is going to the Rose Bowl?" was to be resolved today, the final big Saturday on the college football season, and if form followed the answer figured to come out Michigan and UCLA.

Both Michigan State and Oregon State also were hopeful of tasting the gold and glory of the big Jan. 2 game in Pasadena, Calif.

Michigan had what appeared to be the more difficult task, that of beating rough-and-tumble Ohio State. A Wolverine victory would send them westward. An Ohio State triumph, on the other hand, would give the bid to Michigan State as the Big 10 challenger.

UCLA's task was to whip Southern California in the NCAA's television game of the day starting at 4:30 p. m. (EST) over NBC. The Uclans were without a broken ankle last week. But even so, they rated a touchdown favorite over the sub-par Trojans.

One other team could cement a bowl bid. That would be Texas Christian, which tangled with five-time-beaten Rice. A TCU victory would assure the Horned Frogs the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

THE BIG 10 race has been confused all season and on this, its climax day, Michigan State could do more than check the Michigan-Ohio State game while it played non-conference Marquette.

The Spartans finished their league season last week with a 5-1 mark. Before the Ohio State game, Michigan's record showed 6-1. A victory and it was 7-1. A defeat and it was 6-2. Ohio State, which boasts a spotless record, is ineligible, having played in the Rose Bowl last year.

UCLA, rated No. 5 in the Associated Press poll this week, has been beaten only by Maryland. If the Uclans turn back Southern Cal, they clinch the Pacific Coast title with a 6-0 conference record.

If Southern Cal upended the Uclans, however, and Oregon State scored its expected victory over Oregon, a vote would have to be taken to pick the coast team, for State would show a 6-1 record compared to 5-1 for UCLA.

The ancient Ivy League championship also was up for decision. No bowl bids hinged on the outcome, but the big game was in Princeton, N. J., where Princeton played host to Dartmouth. The Tigers needed the victory to wrap up the crown.

If the men of Tigertown faltered, Yale was ready to step in. A combination Yale triumph over Harvard (their 72nd meeting in a series that began in 1875) and a Dartmouth victory over Princeton would give the mythical title to the Elis.

TWO COACHES — Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin and Bill Glassford of Nebraska—bowed out of the football picture.

Williamson, who in his seven-year reign brought Wisconsin its greatest success in modern times, has been elevated to athletic director of the Badgers. He directed his team for the last time against Minnesota.

Glassford, who is resigning, had a herculean task on his hands sending his club against Oklahoma, the top team in the land. The Sooners have won 27 games in a row and haven't been defeated in the Big Seven in 52 games.

Maryland, Oklahoma's Orange Bowl opponent and currently ranked No. 2 behind the Sooners, was 20 point-plus over George Washington.

FOUR OTHER teams that are in the running for bowl berths moved into action with victory imperative. West Virginia, trying to regan some of its lost prestige suffered in the Pitt defeat last week, took on Syracuse. Pitt, itself now a candidate, went against Penn State.

Auburn and Tennessee, both nursing Sugar Bowl hopes, tangled with Clemson and Kentucky, respectively.

Miami scored an expected victory over Alabama, 34-12, in the only important game last night.

Other major games in the East today saw Boston University vs. Temple, Columbia vs. Rutgers, Holy Cross vs. Connecticut.

Keelty Named Orioles President

Baltimore, Nov. 19 (AP) — Building contractor James Keelty Jr. was elected president of the Baltimore Orioles yesterday to replace Clarence W. Miles.

Keelty, 43, will serve unpaid in the position for which Miles got $25,000 a year.

The Baltimore builder was promoted from vice president, and the position he vacated was not filled. Neither Keelty nor other Oriole directors would discuss the reason, but speculation is that a suggestion of Miles' is back of it.

Miles, who promoted the money to bring the American League franchise to Baltimore from St. Louis two years ago, said when he resigned that the club ought to hire an "experienced baseball executive." It has no such individual presently, and talk was that if one is hired, he might have the title of "executive vice president."

Keelty and other newly-elected directors unanimously reaffirmed their confidence in general manager-manager Paul Richards and "their wholehearted support in his operations of the ball club," which finished seventh. Richards has two more years to go on his contract.

Boston-Chicago Trade Reported

Boston, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Boston Daily Record today said it had learned "from a reliable source" that the Boston Red Sox have traded pitchers Mel Parnell and Russ Kemmerer and infielder Ted Lepcio to Chicago for pitcher Virgil Trucks and outfielder Bob Nieman.

The Record said the trade "definitely" has been made and "will be announced as soon as the football weekend is off the sports pages."

If the trade materializes it will be the second big deal by the Red Sox within a few weeks. The Sox definitely completed a nine-player swap with Washington which brings first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Bob Porterfield to Boston.

The veteran Trucks, a right hander, won 13 while losing 8 last season and was a 19-game winner in 1954.

General Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox was not available for comment.

Murray told a newsman earlier that he was speaking for himself and not the AEC.

Plane Is Sought Following Crash In Pennsylvania

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—A searching party trudged through snow today in rugged mountain terrain, checking a report that an airplane may have crashed during a wintry storm.

"It seems to have been a ghost plane," said Dale Murphy, Cumberland county civil defense coordinator. "It came out of the air and vanished into thin air. No one knows where it came from and no one knows where it was going."

MURPHY SAID they received a number of reports last night of the plane having been seen flying low in the mountain area and that it appeared to be in trouble.

A search of the mountain area about 20 miles from Carlisle in south central Pennsylvania was started on foot after plans to put planes into the air were abandoned because of low visibility.

Murhpy placed the possible scene of the crash nine miles southwest of Mt. Holly Springs, in Cumberland county. The search parties based their line of search from Route 34 into the mountainous, heavily wooded region.

THERE WAS only one plane reported missing in the vicinity. A single-engine, four-passenger private plane that took off from Reading, Pa., airport late yesterday afternoon, failed to arrive at New Castle county, Del., airport as scheduled.

Just Peace . . .

to establish a just and durable peace.

"Success may be long in coming, but there is no temporal force so capable of helping achieve it as the strength, the might, the spirit of 165 million free Americans. In striving toward this shining goal, this country will never admit defeat."

Dulles said his three weeks at Geneva "didn't get us anywhere at all."

BUT HE SAID the "spirit of Geneva," flowing from the summit conference which Eisenhower attended in July, lives on even though the Soviet's summertime smiles turned into frowns this fall.

Posing and answering five questions he said "are in the air," Dulles declared he and Eisenhower agree that:

1. The Geneva spirit is not entirely dead because the Russians now shun the "threats and invective" which charactrized their pre-summit diplomacy.

2. The risk of open war with Russia is no greater than in July when Eisenhower said the summit conference had made it "less likely."

3. The cold war is back, but it is "peaceful" and devoid of rankling "hostility and animosity."

4. The Eisenhower administration plans no drastic revision of its defense and aid programs because it never lowered its guard on the basis of Russian promises last July.

5. More talks with Russia would be "foolish" as things now stand. But if the west keeps hanging together the Soviets eventually will come around to making concessions.

DULLES WOUND UP his 4,000-word report, which Eisenhower helped draft, by quoting the President as personally pledging "no setback, no obstacle" will deter the U. S. search for real peace.

"In striving toward this goal," he quoted Eisenhower as telling him, "this country will never admit defeat."

Dulles blamed the Russians for failure of the foreign ministers to reach agreement on a single one of the issues which had been defined by Eisenhower and the premiers of Russia, Britain and France last July.

One of the new acts will feature Judy Lynn, lovely song stylist, who has appeared in many top night clubs of the country.

Female of the Species

Oklahoma City (AP) — A 58-year-old Oklahoma City man may find it hard to face his friends after pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk. His embarrassment came when he lost a four-block chase to one of the city's newest police officers, one of six women hired primarily for issuing parking tickets in the downtown business district. First the woman officer, Mildred Jones, pushed him down and after he got up, chased him four blocks until a scout car with two policemen caught them and made the arrest. "I was just making sure he didn't get away," she said. He was given a $12 fine by Police Judge Mike Foster.

For the Birds

Chicago (AP)—Pigeons atop the Gresham Methodist Church have a corn crop this year—they grew it themselves. The Rev. E. Lester said he discovered a corn stalk growing in a rain gutter near a pigeon's nest. He had only one explanation: Kernels of corn carried to the nest by the pigeons were dropped into dirt in the gutter and grew.

Blast Demolishes Fraternity House

Indianapolis, Nov. 19 (AP)—An explosion demolished the $155,000 Sigma Chi Fraternity house at Butler University here early today, injuring seven persons.

An extension of the curfew which kept many away from the 3-story brick building was credited with saving a number of fraternity members from possible injury or death.

SIX OF the seven injured were treated in hospitals and released. The seventh was kept in a hospital but was not hurt seriously.

Firemen and police said the 5-year-old building was a total loss. They said a 1,000 gallon water tank, installed only Friday, apparently exploded.

University officials had extended the fraternity's nightly curfew Friday night for a dance, and about half of the student-members were still away from the building.

Eleven members and the house mother were in the house at the time of the explosion. More than 20 students live there.

ALSO ANNOUNCED by Mr. Rafalowsky was the team of Johnny Trama and Tony Leonardo, comedy knockabouts, who were recent hits in a west coast appearance.

"All of our acts this year," the co-chairman said, "will certainly go to make up one of the finest stage presentations in the history of the Ahavath Israel shows. We're sure of that."

Already booked through the William Morris Agency, Inc., to appear at municipal auditorium next Wednesday night, Nov. 23, are Dick Shawn, new find in the television world who has made big hits on the Ed Sullivan and Comedy Hour TV stanzas and Alan Dale, singer, who appeared last year with Milton Berle's Tuesday night show. The Three Rockets also will appear.

PLUS THIS all-star array of talent, Benjamin Schecter, chairman and Mr. Rafalowsky point with pride to the music of Buddy Morrow and his orchestra plus the vocal offerings of blonde Dorothy Kae and Jeffrey Lowell.

The demand for tickets has been reported heavy and Murray Greene, chairman of the reserved seat distribution said this morning that only a few remain.

Everything points to another stellar show and overflow crowd next Wednesday night.

Female of the Species

Oklahoma City (AP) — A 58-year-old Oklahoma City man may find it hard to face his friends after pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk. His embarrassment came when he lost a four-block chase to one of the city's newest police officers, one of six women hired primarily for issuing parking tickets in the downtown business district. First the woman officer, Mildred Jones, pushed him down and after he got up, chased him four blocks until a scout car with two policemen caught them and made the arrest. "I was just making sure he didn't get away," she said. He was given a $12 fine by Police Judge Mike Foster.

For the Birds

Chicago (AP)—Pigeons atop the Gresham Methodist Church have a corn crop this year—they grew it themselves. The Rev. E. Lester said he discovered a corn stalk growing in a rain gutter near a pigeon's nest. He had only one explanation: Kernels of corn carried to the nest by the pigeons were dropped into dirt in the gutter and grew.

Blast Demolishes Fraternity House

Indianapolis, Nov. 19 (AP)—An explosion demolished the $155,000 Sigma Chi Fraternity house at Butler University here early today, injuring seven persons.

An extension of the curfew which kept many away from the 3-story brick building was credited with saving a number of fraternity members from possible injury or death.

SIX OF the seven injured were treated in hospitals and released. The seventh was kept in a hospital but was not hurt seriously.

Firemen and police said the 5-year-old building was a total loss. They said a 1,000 gallon water tank, installed only Friday, apparently exploded.

University officials had extended the fraternity's nightly curfew Friday night for a dance, and about half of the student-members were still away from the building.

Eleven members and the house mother were in the house at the time of the explosion. More than 20 students live there.

Smoke Over the Counter

Santa Fe, N. M. (AP)—This ancient city is going to be responsible for smoking up much of the nation this winter. Jesus Rios, whose family has operated a wood yard here for years, is shipping out huge truck loads of pinon wood from the nearby Sangre de Cristo mountains almost daily. The orders are going to almost every part of the nation. Pinon, when burned, gives off a fragrant odor. It is in increasing demand over the nation for use in fireplaces.
